LIVERPOOL STAR ADMITS ASSAULT ON GIRLFRIEND

LIVERPOOL FC player Jon Flanagan has pleaded guilty to assaulting his girlfriend.

The 25-year-old defender appeared before JPs yesterday accused of beating Rachael Wall.

He was charged following an incident on Duke Street in Liverpool city centre at around 3.20am on Friday, December 22.

Flanagan's case was adjourned to January 17 when he'll be sentenced.

BAILED: Flanagan

Domestic

Liverpool Magistrates' Court heard he had been seen on CCTV assaulting his partner, who he has been in a relationship with for 18 months.

In his defence, Lionel Greig said the victim had not provided a statement and there had been no previous instances of domestic violence.

He said that both parties were under the influence of alcohol at the time of the incident.

District Judge Wendy Lloyd said she had been given a breakdown of the CCTV, which showed Flanagan assaulting his partner on "several occasions" and kicking her at one point.

She told Flanagan, who wore a black suit and tie, he would face a community penalty.

She said: "I need to be reassured that these circumstances will never be repeated."

Flanagan was given unconditional bail.

City legend's slap for New Year muggers

EX-Man City striker Paul Dickov was the victim of a New Year's Eve mugging attempt.

Dickov (above), 45, was walking home to bring in 2018 when he was confronted by two men.

The former Doncaster boss took to social media to warn anyone else who fancies taking him on.

He said on Twitter: "So walking home with a couple of bottles of fizz to toast 2018 in with the fam.

"Two lads stop me & tell me to give them my bag & wallet or I'm in trouble!

"Believe me I put them in their place.

"Just ask me next time boys, save yourself a slap & I might even buy you a bottle."

Dickov later revealed he thought it was a "nothing incident and found it quite funny".

The Scot is remembered most for his time at City. He spent six years at Maine Road scoring 35 goals in 158 appearances.

The forward has gone down in City folklore for his 1999 Second Division play-off final equaliser against Gillingham.

Trump tweet sparks fury

PAKISTAN has summoned the U.S. ambassador and Islamic groups have held rallies in major cities after Donald Trump lashed out at the country over its alleged support for extremists.

In a New Year's Day tweet, the president said the U.S. had "foolishly" given Pakistan more than $33billion in aid and had received nothing in return but "lies & deceit", adding that Pakistan gives "safe haven to the terrorists we hunt in Afghanistan".

Hundreds of supporters of the Jamaat-ud-Dawa group chanted against Mr Trump at a rally in Lahore and called for the U.S. ambassador to be expelled.

Jamaat-ud-Dawa is headed by Hafiz Saeed, the founder of a militant group blamed for the 2008 Mumbai attacks, who lives openly in Pakistan despite a $10million reward offered by the State Department.

Anger as rail fare hike hits commuters

TRANSPORT Secretary Chris Grayling has come under fire for being in Qatar as rail passengers are hit with the largest fare rise in five years.

Mr Grayling is in the middle-east state to meet members of their government and business leaders.

Shadow transport secretary Andy McDonald claimed the timing of the two-day visit "smacks of a man running scared" as the cost of train tickets rose by an average of 3.4 per cent.

He went on: "Passengers and taxpayers deserve better than a failing Transport Secretary who refuses to defend his track record."

Mick Cash, general secretary of the Rail, Maritime and Transport union (RMT), said that passengers forking out more for train travel will "draw their own conclusions" from Mr Grayling's decision to take a "trip to the Qatari sunshine".

AWAY: Grayling

The Department for Transport said in a statement that the visit is to "promote the UK overseas, support British jobs and strengthen the important relationship between the two countries".

It added: "This trip has been specifically arranged to take place outside of parliamentary time.

Snub

"The Secretary of State has repeatedly answered questions on this issue, ever since fare increases were first announced by the industry in August."

Many season tickets went up by more than £100 yesterday, including in Prime Minister Theresa May's constituency of Maidenhead, where an annual pass to London rose by £104 to £3,092.

Other commuter routes now more expensive include Liverpool to Manchester (up £108 to £3,152), Neath to Cardiff (up £56 to £1,708) and Elgin to Inverness (up £100 to £2,904).

Protests were held outside around 40 stations with members of the (RMT) union doling out chocolates to "sweeten the bitter pill" of the price increase.

Stephen Joseph, chief executive of the Campaign for Better Transport accused the Government of choosing to "snub rail passengers" by continuing to raise fares while fuel duty is frozen for a seventh consecutive year.

Their figures show that average season tickets into London terminals have gone up by £146 this year, compared with £74 last January.

Grayling gets PM's vote of confidence

CHRIS Grayling got the dreaded vote of confidence as Downing Street denied rumours he's to go in the latest Cabinet reshuffle.

A spokesmn for No10 said that the Prime Minister believes he is doing a "good job" as Transport Secretary.

Mr Grayling has been one of the most frequently mentioned candidates for the chop in a flurry of press speculation about changes to Theresa May's top team in the wake of the loss of her effective deputy, Damian Green.

Reports say that Government aides were tipping Mr Grayling along with Conservative chairman Sir Patrick McLoughlin, Education Secretary Justine Greening, Business Secretary Greg Clark and Leader of the Commons Andrea Leadsom as likely casualties of a New Year shake-up.

Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt has been identified in the media as a potential candidate for Mr Green's former post at the Cabinet Office.

Asked at a media briefing whether Mr Grayling would remain in post, Mrs May's official spokesman said: "Chris Grayling is working hard and doing a good job as Transport Secretary."

Corrie on Cleo!

PAIR OF BEAUTIES: Michelle and Liz (below)

Michelle is lined up for Liz Taylor epic remake

HOLLYWOOD classic Cleopatra is getting a sexy makeover – with Michelle Keegan lined up for the lead role.

Screenwriter David Scarpa has said he will remake the Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton epic as a "tight, dirty, fast two-hour movie" with lashings of SEX.

And ex-Corrie babe Michelle is in the frame to play the legendary Egyptian queen.

Dirty

Scarpa, who wrote Ridley Scott's awards season favourite All The Money in the World, has now been attached to the ill-fated Cleopatra film and promises to make it amazing.

The new flick is to be directed by Denis Villeneuve, who did 2017's Blade Runner sequel and Arrival.

Sony is the studio behind the project, trying to ape the opulence of the 1963 original, which was so over-the-top it nearly put 20th Century Fox into bankruptcy.

Scarpa said the flick would be: "Dirty, bloody, lots of people swearing and having sex and all of that other stuff and just treat it as a two-hour, lean, mean political thriller, full of assassinations."

EMILIA'S FIRST CLASS

DAENERYS Targaryen, Jon Snow and Arya Stark are among Game Of Thrones characters that will feature on a new series of stamps, Royal Mail has announced.

They are among 10 main protagonists from the hit HBO fantasy programme, based on the books by George RR Martin, who feature in the set that goes on sale on January 23.

The set of 15 first class stamps is being released to highlight British contributions to the series.

The seven series so far have been heavily filmed in Northern Ireland with a predominantly British and Irish cast, including Emilia Clarke as Daenerys.

Ex-Ukip councillor in court charged with wife's murder

A FORMER Ukip councillor has appeared in court charged with the murder of his wife.

Stephen Searle, 64, is accused of killing 62-year-old Anne Searle, who was found unresponsive by paramedics at an address in Stowmarket, Suffolk, at 10.30pm on Saturday.

She was declared dead at the scene.

Suffolk Police said a post-mortem examination was conducted on Sunday and further tests were needed.

Ex-Royal Marine commando Searle, of Stowmarket, appeared at Ipswich Magistrates' Court by video link from Bury St Edmunds police station.

He spoke only to confirm his personal details and was remanded in custody.

No plea was taken.

Searle (above) is a former Ukip councillor for Suffolk County Council.

He represented Stowmarket South division from 2013 until 2017 when he lost his seat.

Building site death plunge

A MAN has died after plunging 50 feet into a trench at a building site in London's Canary Wharf.

Emergency services were called to the scene on Bank Street after his body was found shortly before 9am yesterday.

Scotland Yard said the victim was not a construction worker and his death is being treated as "unexplained".

A spokesman for the force said: "The body of a man had been found after apparently falling into a deep trench at the location.

"He was pronounced dead at the scene. He is not thought to have been a member of construction staff. It is not being treated as suspicious."

A London Fire Brigade spokesman said that the incident occurred at the site of a building under construction, adding: "A man had fallen approximately 50 feet."

HOW MANY WOULD HE HAVE KILLED?

Cops' swoop to avert Vegas-style massacre in Texas

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

POLICE nicked a tooled-up suspected would-be mass killer in what they feared could have led to a Las Vegas-style shooting attack.

Russell Ziemba was arrested for criminal trespassing and assaulting a police officer.

But he is suspected of wanting to do something far worse.

The 49-year-old was "drunk and angry" towards other guests at the Hyatt Regency in Houston, Texas, early on Sunday morning.

He was asked to leave – but an officer spotted ammo and three guns, including an assault rifle, inside his room on the 28th floor.

Married Ziemba told police he was there to celebrate New Year's Eve and that he had been drunk "for days".

He claimed the guns were in his room because he was worried they would be stolen from his truck.

But cops fear he could have shot DOZENS of innocent people from his hotel room had he not been stopped.

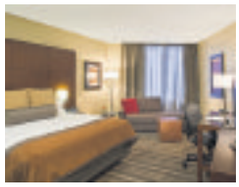

It emerged that a week ago, Ziemba had been arrested for unlawfully carrying a weapon.

A neighbour revealed that Ziemba had sat in his garage on Christmas Day night with the door open and music blaring, which was "unusual".

Six days later, he was at the Hyatt – raising concern about his real intentions.

On October 1 last year, gunman Stephen Paddock opened fire on a crowd of concertgoers at the Route 91 Harvest music festival on the famous Las Vegas Strip in Nevada.

Fifty eight people died and 546 were injured.

Brendan: I'd die for Mrs Brown

COMEDIAN Brendan O'Carroll says he would love to DROP DEAD performing on stage.

Brendan (above), 62, is best known as Agnes Brown in BBC comedy Mrs Brown's Boys and his ideal death would be while playing his iconic character.

He said: "I'd love to die on stage. That would be the perfect ending for me, like Tommy Cooper did. I'd be delighted.

"When you love what you're doing, it's not a job, so if you're in the middle of telling a gag and God decides boom, now's the moment, then that's the moment.

"You hit the deck. What a way to go!"

Irish-born Brendan lives in Florida thanks to his rags-to-riches story, which began in 1992.

When asked to read a few lines on a radio show, Brendan insisted he could make the script funnier and Mrs Brown's Boys was born.

It's a real family affair off-screen too with Brendan's wife Jennifer Gibney, 53, playing Cathy Brown and six other family members all starring in the show.

ANTI-RACISM TREVOR SINCLAIR'S 'WHITE CT' RANT AT COPS

Show Racism the Red Card

SORRY: Anti-racism campaigner Sinclair called cop a 'white ct'

- Twice the drink drive limit
- Collided with woman in street
- Pissed himself in police car

FORMER England footballer Trevor Sinclair has been ordered to do 150 hours' community service for racially abusing a policeman after being arrested while twice over the limit.

The 44-year-old TV pundit asked the officer if he was being arrested because he was black and accused the police of racism before urinating in a patrol car, JPs heard.

Sinclair shouted racist slurs at cops as he was put in the back of a police van, and continued being racist after he was taken to cells at a police station.

He pleaded guilty yesterday to drink-driving and a racially aggravated public order offence on November 12 last year.

Nick Freeman, representing Sinclair, said the "catalyst" for his behaviour that night was being subjected to racism, in front of his family, while out having a meal hours earlier.

Mr Freeman said a woman had approached the father-of-four, patting him on the head and calling him a "little chocolate man".

Earlier, the prosecution had told Blackpool Magistrates' Court that, at around 8.45pm on November 12 last year, police were alerted to an incident at Sinclair's home address but were told he had left in his Tesla car and that he may have been drinking.

Patrols were out looking for him and found his car stopped in the middle of the road in Blackpool, after Sinclair had been in collision with a woman who was getting out of a taxi.

By PAT HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

In a statement read to the court, PC Evans said: "I asked Mr Sinclair what had happened. It appeared to me he was drunk, unsteady on his feet and his eyes were glazed."

Sinclair was given a roadside breath test and was found to be twice over the drink-drive limit.

He was cautioned and arrested and a secure van requested to the roadside – but then his behaviour changed, the court heard.

PC Evans' statement continued: "Before his arrest he was very calm, polite and courteous.

Aggressive

"He started asking if it was because he was black. Black people are under-represented in the police. He started getting more confrontational, he was getting more aggressive. I did not like the direction the conversation was going in – he was accusing me of being racist.

"He began to become more agitated and aggressive."

During the search, the officer discovered Sinclair's trousers were wet and that he had urinated while sitting in the police car.

And when Sinclair was put in the back of the police van, he called the officer a "white ct" as the van doors slammed.

Sinclair, of Lytham, Lancashire, made further racist comments while in the back of the van and continued to be "obnoxious, aggressive and racist while being booked in".

PC Evans' statement concluded: "Sinclair's behaviour following his arrest was awful. I'm not a racist. His behaviour was extremely racist."

Mr Mowbray said the woman whom Sinclair appeared to have knocked over with his car suffered only minor injuries, might have been drinking herself and may have stepped into his path, so he was not prosecuted for any offence over that matter.

The court heard that Sinclair did a lot of voluntary work with youngsters interested in football and was involved in anti-racism charity Show Racism The Red Card.

Mr Freeman said: "He's totally appalled at his behaviour. He's embarrassed, genuinely contrite and first and foremost would like to apologise to PC Evans.

"He accepts police were not racist towards him."

He said the defendant had been out for a meal with his wife and family and then to a bar where the "little chocolate man" incident occurred.

The court heard that Sinclair went home but was "angry" and decided to go out in his car.

After his arrest, he was placed in the police car for 30 minutes where he apparently urinated, the court heard.

Mr Freeman continued: "He needed to use the bathroom and was unable to do so."

Sinclair was "shocked" that he was handcuffed as he was put in the police van and then gave a "running commentary of his perception of racism in this country", Mr Freeman said.

He added: "He actually abhors racism and he's been a member of a charity – it's called Show Racism The Red Card. The purpose of the charity is to eradicate racism, not just in football.

"The terrible paradox is, that increases the sense of frustration, embarrassment and contrition.

"The real Mr Sinclair is someone who abhors racism.

"His behaviour on this particular evening may well have a terminal effect on his TV career."

Sinclair, who played as a winger for Manchester City, West Ham and Blackpool and made 12 appearances for England, has also been a pundit for BBC Sport.

Scourge

After he pleaded guilty, the prosecution dropped other charges including assault on a police officer, failing to provide a specimen and criminal damage.

District Judge Jeff Brailsford told Sinclair: "In a truly civilised society racism has absolutely no place whatsoever. You have worked long hours to try to eradicate what is a real scourge in society.

"It's also to enormous credit the work you do to try to get rid of racism. I'm confident, from all that I have heard, you are unlikely to be troubling the courts again."

Passing sentence, he ordered Sinclair to pay £500 compensation to PC Evans and handed him 150 hours' community service for each offence, to run concurrently. He also banned him from the road for 20 months.

Sinclair last night lost his job as a BBC football pundit after the case.

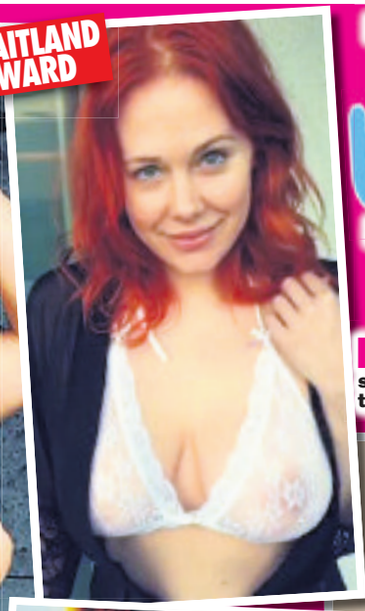

A BBC spokesman said on Tuesday he worked for them on a freelance basis and they "currently had no scheduled plans" to use him again.

CAITLYN: MY WAR WITH KARDASHIANS

SECRETS: Caitlyn with Piers on his show

By LUCY MAPSTONE news@sundaysport.co.uk

CAITLYN Jenner didn't tell the Kardashian family about her sex change because she did not trust them to keep their mouths shut.

The former Olympic champion, previously married to the family's matriarch Kris Jenner, has also said she doesn't communicate with stepchildren Kim, Khloe, Kourtney and Rob Kardashian any more.

Caitlyn, 68, told Piers Morgan's Life Stories that when she sent a copy of her memoir The Secrets Of My Life to Kim before it was published, it did not include the last few pages in which she "talked of gender confirmation".

Piers asked: "They didn't know that you had actually had the surgery?"

Caitlyn, who was previously known as Bruce, said: "No, I didn't tell anybody. Why? It's none of their business."

On whether her transition was the business of her ex-wife and the family, she said: "No, it's not that big a deal. Nobody knows. I had to be honest, the book is about honesty. My secrets, not the Kardashians"

Asked if specifically keeping the revealing portion of the book away from the Kardashians was "wilfully deceptive", Caitlyn said: "Because I didn't want them to leak it to the press. Of course I didn't trust them."

She said that her two children with Kris – Kendall and Kylie – speak to her "all the time, every day", but her relationship between her ex-wife and stepdaughters in particular has dwindled.

Lucas: I may have gone too far in Star Wars

DIRECTOR George Lucas admitted to a screening audience that he "may have gone too far in a few places" when it came to the much criticised Star Wars prequel The Phantom Menace.

Lucas admitted the story was "disjointed" during a "making of" featurette in the movie's DVD set.

"It's bold in terms of jerking people around. I may have gone too far in a few places," said Lucas (above).

The footage captured Rick McCallum, the film's producer, watching the film with "his hand over his mouth" in shock.

"It boggles the mind," Lucas told the audience.

"It is a very hard movie to follow.

"But, at the same time, it's stylistically designed to be that way, and you can't undo that, but we can diminish the affects of it.

"We can slow it down a little bit – so if it's intense for us, a regular person is going to go nuts."

SERIAL KILLER BEAT LOVER TO DEATH WITH CLAW HAMMER

SICKO: Johnson, and flat where he killed lover

She was third partner to die

A VIOLENT and controlling serial killer has pleaded guilty to murdering his former girlfriend.

Theodore Johnson, 64, admitted killing 51-year-old mother-of-four and grandmother Angela Best by beating her with a claw hammer and throttling her with a dressing gown cord.

After attacking her at his Islington, north London home he threw himself in front of an express train but survived.

Garage worker Johnson had previously been convicted of killing his wife by throwing her off a balcony in 1981, and strangling another former partner in 1993.

By EMILY PENNINK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The wheelchair-bound defendant had pleaded guilty to the manslaughter of Ms Best and admitted her murder on the first day of his Old Bailey trial.

Johnson killed Ms Best on December 15, 2016 after their relationship broke down and she started seeing another man.

Violence

The couple had met around 1995 after the victim moved to London from Manchester with her children.

It can now be reported that the defendant had a history of violence towards women, having been twice convicted of manslaughter before.

In November 1981, he was convicted by a jury at Sheffield Crown Court of the manslaughter of his wife Yvonne Johnson.

Following a violent argument, he hit the mother-of-two with a vase before pushing her over the balcony of their ninth floor flat in Wolverhampton.

Then in March 1993, he was convicted at the Old Bailey of killing his then partner Yvonne Bennett, by diminished responsibility.

The couple, who had a daughter together, had previously moved from Wolverhampton to Finsbury Park in north London, where Johnson strangled Ms Bennett with a belt after she had an affair with another man.

Guilty

Ms Best's two sisters sat in court when Johnson entered his guilty plea as his murder trial was about to be opened to a jury by the prosecutor.

Judge Richard Marks QC remanded him into custody to be sentenced on Friday.

BEST BAR NONE: Jason Doyle (below) has praised brave regulars

DISARMED BANDIT!

Pub regulars foil armed robber

AN armed and masked raider was tackled to the ground by three customers after trying to hold up a pub.

The would-be robber was held by regulars in the Speaker Connolly after threatening two members of staff and about a dozen drinkers around closing time on New Year's Night.

Pub manager Jason Doyle said: "We couldn't have been more thankful for them.

"Obviously we didn't know at the time that the gun was imitation. We thought we were in serious trouble. But they showed no fear. And we've told them already that they'll be looked after."

The brave customers, all believed to be in their 30s, have been regulars in the pub in the Firhouse area of Dublin on and off for the last few months.

Uzi

The hold-up bid began as one of the bar staff was pulling down the shutters of the pub at closing time, around midnight.

He was approached by a lone raider wearing a balaclava and carrying what looked like an Uzi-type sub-machine gun.

About a dozen people were still in the bar at the time.

The raider marched the barman into the pub with the gun at his neck and ordered drinkers out of the front bar and into the lounge.

He then went behind the counter and pointed the gun at Mr Doyle as he demanded the takings.

An off-duty detective was also in the pub and called gardai while another member of staff had pressed a panic button.

The raider was disarmed on the kitchen floor and restrained until police arrived on the scene a few minutes later.

A man in his 30s was arrested at the pub and a suspected firearm was recovered, say cops.

Firefighters called in to help sex toy cock up

A MAN had an eye-watering start to 2018 after getting a sex toy stuck on his willy.

Firefighters faced a delicate six-hour job trying to prise the two-inch-wide ring from his genitals.

Two fire crews helped to remove the band at Ipswich Hospital in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Firefighters from Ipswich East station were called to the accident and emergency department at 12.35am.

Four hours later, at about 4.15am, they called for assistance from colleagues at Princes Street station.

A spokesman for Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service said: "Our crews were called for assistance by the East of England Ambulance Service.

"They attended Ipswich Hospital in the early hours of Saturday morning and removed a large ring from the base of a man's penis.

"Having successfully extricated the ring from its entanglement, both crews returned to their respective station by about 6.40am.

"It is not known if the patient required any further medical assistance."

KISS GENE: I'LL ONLY DO DRUGS IF IT MAKES MY COCK BIGGER!

NOT SO CRAZY NIGHTS: Teetotal rocker Gene

KISS legend Gene Simmons has revealed how he's NEVER been drunk or high.

And the 68-year-old rock icon said that he would only ever start drinking booze or taking drugs if it "made his schmekel bigger" – schmekel being the Yiddish word for little penis.

The God of Thunder and Crazy Nights hitmaker, who dresses up as a fire-breathing Demon on stage and claims to have slept with nearly 5,000 women, said he didn't see the point or booze or drugs.

He said: "I've never got high or got drunk in my life.

"I don't like the taste of alcohol. I don't like cigarettes. I don't like drugs.

"On the day science tells me all of the above will make my schmekel bigger or I'll get smarter or make more money, I'm right at the head of the line.

"But it doesn't do that. If you drink too much, you're going to throw up on the shoes of the girl. I don't get it."

The bass player, who was born in Israel, also said that he was proud he still had his own hair.

He said: "I'm proud of still having my own hair. It's messed up from years of bad hairspray and breathing fire onstage, but it's all mine.

"I'm grey, so I have to dye it, but it's mine.

"Sadly, as the years pass, and the less I have on my head, the more I have on my back and my ass, and in my nose."

13 monkeys die in safari park blaze

THIRTEEN monkeys have been killed in a fire at Woburn Safari Park.

The blaze broke out in the early hours of Tuesday in the Patas monkey house within the African Forest drive-through enclosure of the park in Bedfordshire.

It is the latest fire to hit an animal centre, after one at London Zoo before Christmas killed an aardvark and four meerkats.

A Woburn spokesman said: "Staff and fire crews attended the scene. However, devastatingly for everyone at the park, none of the 13 animals could be saved."

All other animals within the jungle drive-through enclosure are being monitored by park staff.

The park will remain open, although the jungle enclosure is closed while the fire is investigated.

BOY, 14, ADMITS HIT-RUN KILLING OF MAY, 78, ON DIRT BIKE

LOVED: Granny May was killed by dirt bike

A 14-YEAR-OLD boy has admitted the hit-and-run killing a pensioner on his dirt bike on a busy city road.

May Margaret Laidlaw, 78, died after being hit by scrambler-type motorbike as she was crossing the road.

The teenager, who cannot be named for legal reasons, pleaded guilty yesterday to causing death by dangerous driving, using a vehicle without insurance and failing to stop after a road accident.

He appeared in at Liverpool Crown Court court with his uncle.

Mrs Laidlaw suffered multiple injuries in the crash at Walton, Liverpool, and died in hospital.

Members of her family were in court for the hearing.

In a statement released after her death, the family said: "On Saturday December 2, 2017, our world came crashing down. May was taken from us, not because she was ready to go but simply because she was taken.

"May was loved by many, she was a kind and caring wife, mum, nan, great nanny, sister, auntie and friend."

The teenager was given conditional bail and the case was adjourned to February 2 for reports.

The judge told the lad: "The overwhelming likelihood is that, when you return to this court, despite your age and background, you will lose your liberty for some time."

Chef gets a meat roasting

A CHEF sparked a furious backlash after boasting about spiking a group of vegan diners' meals with meat.

Laura Goodman (below), who co-owns Carlini restaurant in Shifnal, Shropshire, posted on Facebook how a "pious, judgmental vegan" had gone to bed "still believing she's a vegan".

Social media users flooded a Google page for the restaurant with one-star reviews, with one commenter calling for Ms Goodman to be prosecuted for assault.

The restaurateur posted her message on the Facebook page "The Boring Group" at 4am on Saturday, prompting a barrage of abuse from members.

One said: "I hope you didn't do anything on purpose to make her meal non vegan, if so that is disgusting and so out of order, I would be furious with anybody that did that."

Get on the Tube and get yer kecks off!

HUNDREDS of people are set to ride trains half NAKED as part of this year's No Trousers on the Tube Day.

Dozens have already pledged to brave the cold temperatures and join the event, which is taking place in London on Sunday afternoon.

It is part of the worldwide No Pants Subway Ride – which began as a small prank in New York in 2002 and has since spread to over 60 cities around the globe.

Last year, around 300 people took part in the gimmick, which urges travellers to try to keep a straight face during the stunt.

A spokesman said: "When told to by your group leader, remove your trousers and put them into your backpack.

"You can wear fun underwear if you like, but nothing that screams out, 'I wore this because I'm doing a silly stunt'.

"Don't wear a thong or anything else that might offend people. Our aim is to make people laugh, not p them off."

Organisers say the event is "always a blast" and have assured people they would not be cold as the entire trouser-less part of the event is underground.

Shane: I'm a top shagger!

FORMER Australian cricketer Shane Warne reckons his 'amazing' SHAGGING skills helped him woo actress Elizabeth Hurley.

Shane, 48, and Liz, 52, surprised the world when they announced their engagement in 2011 but split in 2013 after a three year romance.

Now Shane has dished the dirt on how he managed to seduce the brunette beauty at an event in Melbourne.

When asked how he managed to nab a date with the famous actress, Shane didn't hold back and replied: "Besides charm – amazing in bed."

WE FEEL LIKE A LIVING HERE!

...it could be worse!

A PETITION has been launched to change the name of a street after residents said they were fed up of being made fun of for living in BELL END!

People living there in the town of Sandwell, West Midlands, have complained it is one of the rudest street names in England.

The petition has so far attracted 12 signatures after claims that young residents would be bullied at school.

Rude

Residents want the council to change the name of the street because they have become a "laughing stock".

The road was ranked fourth on a list of the top 15 most rude-sounding street names in the UK.

The petition page on change.org reads: "As you may be aware, the term 'Bell End' can be seen and used as a rude and/or a offensive word.

"It can affect people, including children being bullied and teased at school, and generally becoming a laughing stock, as seen recently on Facebook and other social media sites, and it's time for a change."

But Stephen Young, 72, of Minge Lane in Worcester, which was also voted one of the rudest-sounding street names, believed the reaction of Bell End residents to be over the top.

He said: "There has been no plan to change the name of our road.

"We have had a problem with people nicking the sign but nobody is that fussed about the name. There are no plans to start a petition, people are happy with the name of the road."

Of the Bell End residents' plans, Mr Young said: "It's a bit silly really. It is a bit over the top."

Sir Ken wants to play the next Bond baddie

TOP thesp Kenneth Branagh says he wants to play the next Bond villain.

The 25th movie in the iconic spy series will start filming this year, with Daniel Craig, 49, reprising his role as 007.

However, Murder on the Orient Express star Branagh, 57, has thrown his hat into the ring and said he'd love to play the baddie in the new flick.

Delicious

He said: "I think as an actor that is always delicious to play.

"I am a connoisseur of those Bond villains, but it's a hard one to do.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

"I loved Javier Bardem in Skyfall – Craig's villains were almost Shakespearean.

"That franchise has been great at responding to the way audiences want to receive the material. That is not trying to be a cartoon – they want to have as much complication as possible."

Despite advertising himself for the new film, Kenneth is hotly tipped to reprise his role as detective Hercule Poirot after Death on the Nile has reportedly been given the green light.

If Branagh did get the nod to be the next Bond villain, he would be the first British actor to take on the prized role since 2002, when Toby Stephens played the part of Gustav Graves in Die Another Day.

James Bond 25 will be released in UK cinemas in November 2019.

Restaurant pair nosh each other during dinner!

A COUPLE were arrested at a restaurant after indulging in a NOSH of the wrong kind.

Staff noticed the pair having oral sex at a booth in front of customers at the Baby Acapulco eaterie on Sunday evening.

Jonathan Hightower, 31, and Lashanda Fisher, 28, were arrested for public lewdness.

They facea fine of up to £3,500 and a possible jail sentence.

Restaurant security staff told cops the two suspects had been thrown out of the eaterie but had entered a petrol station nearby.

Officers spoke to witnesses who said they saw the two engaging in oral sex for about five minutes at their booth.

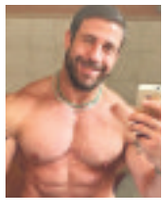

Their descriptions matched those of Hightower and Fisher.

A police report said witnesses were "very offended" by the suspects' behaviour and many children were present at the time.

Surveillance video obtained by police also confirmed the witness statements.

AS FANS CELEBRATE THE COMPLETE COLLECTION OF CLASSIC SITCOM COMING TO NETFLIX, WE REVEAL...

THE BREAST OF F.R.I.E.N.D.S

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

YANK sitcom Friends has RETURNED to the UK with every single episode now available to stream.

Fans of the cult Nineties sitcom went wild online as Netflix teased the show's arrival on New Year's Day by tweeting "The One with the Show Everyone's Been Asking Us to Add", a reference to how each show was titled.

In Friends – which ended in 2004 – David Schwimmer, Jennifer Aniston, Matt LeBlanc, Matthew Perry, Lisa Kudrow and Courteney Cox played a group of easy-going friends living in New York.

However, they weren't the only stars of the show with loads more stunnas making cameo appearances throughout the sitcom's 10-years.

And here they are in the flesh...

Melissa George (Molly, 2003)
AUSSIE babe Melissa, 41, got her fine norks out when she took a naked dip in 2011 TV show The Slap, but Friends fans might know her from playing Molly the nanny.

Denise Richards (Cassie Geller, 2001)
IT'S no surprise that Playboy model Denise's arrival in New York caused a stir, with three of the main characters fancying the pants off the 46-year-old blonde babe.

Susan Sarandon (Jessica Lockhart, 2001)
BUSTY brunette Susan, 71, had a cameo in the seventh series of Friends but movie fans were in seventh heaven with her topless work in 1978 film Pretty Baby.

MORE FRIENDS BOOBS ON PAGES 14 & 15

Reece Witherspoon (Jill Green, 2002)
BLONDE beauty Reese, 41, played Rachel's younger sister in the popular sitcom but she left jaws dropping when she went braless in 1998 movie Twilight.

Elle Mcpherson (Janine Lacroix, 1999)
STUNNING model Elle, 53, played Joey's roommate in season six but unfortunately she never went naked, unlike her role in 1993 movie Sirens.

Kristin Davis (Jen, 2000)
BRUNETTE babe Kristin, 52, was one of Joey's many one night stands but she's arguably best known as Charlotte in Sex in the City.

Lauren Tom (Julie, 1994)
LINGERIE clad Lauren, 56, played Ross's girlfriend in season two and it's not hard to see what attracted bosses to her – she looked incredible in her black underwear in 2003 film Manhood.

Alexandra Holden (Elizabeth Stevens, 2000)
A YEAR before her naked silver screen appearance in 2001 TV show Six Feet Under, Alexandra, 40, appeared on Friends as another of Ross's girlfriends.

Jennifer Aniston (Rachel, 1994 - 2004)
AS Rachel in Friends, Jennifer stole the hearts of the world and was one half of telly's fave couple. Since the show ended, the 48-year-old babe hasn't slowed down and instead gained even more sex appeal for her striptease in 2013 comedy We're The Millers.

THE BREAST OF F·R·I·E·N·D·S

Kathleen Turner (Charles Bing, 2001)

ALTHOUGH she played Chandler's transgender dad in Friends, Kathleen, 63, showed she was definitely all woman inn 1981 crime flick Body Heat, where she bared her pert pair.

Lisa Kudrow (Phoebe, 1994 - 2004)

LISA portrayed quirky, guitar-loving Phoebe on the show and her character provided tons of catchphrases and songs for fans but after waving goodbye to Friends Lisa, 54, wasted no time in stripping off in 2005 comedy Happy Endings.

Jessica Hecht (Susan Bunch, 1994)

CURLY-haired stunna Jessica, 52, played lesbian lover Susan Bunch in the sitcom and she showed off her impressive assets in 1997 comedy Anarchy TV which was so low budget they clearly couldn't afford clothes!

Rebecca Romijn (Cheryl, 1997)

CURVY beauty Rebecca, 45, donned suspenders and lacy lingerie in 2002 movie Femme Fatale but she wasn't always as popular – in Friends she played 'dirty girl' Cheryl who had serious hygiene problems.

Helen Baxendale (Emily Waltham, 1999)

BRITISH rose Helen, 47, played Ross' second wife Emily in Friends but years after her stint in the Yank show, she went bare-boobed for her role in 2012 film Truth or Dare.

Christina Applegate (Amy Green, 2002)

TOPLESS stunna Christina played Rachel's sister in the sitcom and carried on appearing in comedies when she made a cameo in classic 2004 film Anchorman.

Wynona Ryder (Melissa Warburton, 2001)

ACTRESS Winona, 46, played Rachel's pal Melissa in Friends and it was revealed their characters shared a snog – but it was a lucky fella Winona ended up romping with in 2007 movie Sex and Death 101.

THE GOOD: Nice day for a topless stroll

THE BAD: Capped perv goes for a quick feel

THE UGLY: Groper gets a good fisting for his booby

Topless music festival babe thumps groper

A TOPLESS reveller at a music festival BATTERED a pervert after he groped her boobs as she walked past him.

The woman was happily showing off her bouncing bosoms when the unnamed fella took it as an invitation to cop a feel.

He crept up behind her before reaching around and groping her breast – but the woman was furious at the bloke and, along with her friend, proceeded to beat the crap out of him.

The moment was captured on a mobile phone and has been shared online, where thousands of people have seen it.

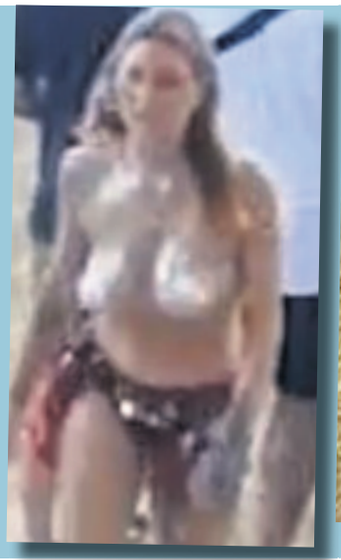

Fellow revellers at the Rhythm and Vines Festival in New Zealand were quick to defend the woman.

One said: "She may have been topless but that doesn't give anyone the right to just feel her up.

"Women should have the right to dress how they want without being sexually assaulted like this.

"If men can't control themselves, then they shouldn't be out on the street."

The festival was attended by 20,000 people – including the New Zealand Prime Minister, Jacinda Ardern.

Man charged over stabbing

A MAN has been charged with murder after a stabbing victim was declared dead in the first minutes of 2018.

Police said a woman who had suffered what is believed to be a knife injury was pronounced dead at an address in Bromsgrove, Worcs, at 12.12am.

David Clark, 49, of Cloverdale, Bromsgrove, has now been charged with the murder of the 44-year-old woman after officers were called to his property at 11.52pm on New Year's Eve.

The accused appeared before JPs yesterday morning where he was told he'd be remanded in custody to appear at Worcester Crown Court tomorrow.

ARGY WORLD CUP STAR IN FIREWORKS HORROR

INJURED: Argie striker Viatri

FOOTBALL ace Lucas Viatri has been left "severely wounded" after a firework exploded in his face.

The 30-year-old striker can be seen in images posted on social media with his face looking swollen, eyebrows burnt and serious injuries to his right cheekbone.

Argentinian news outlets reported the incident happened on Christmas night while Viatri celebrated with his family and friends in his homeland.

A statement from Penarol, his Uruguayan club, read: "Lucas Viatri suffered an accident with pyrotechnics that affected both eyes.

"He is in Buenos Aires, where he is resting and examinations are being carried out."

They were unable to confirm how long it would take for him to recover.

Viatri has spent virtually all of his career playing in South America with spells at both Boca Juniors and Estudiantes.

He also played in China for one season with Shanghai Shenua, where he scored four times in 12 appearances.

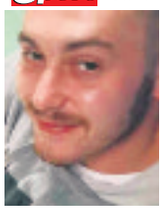

Viatri joined Penarol earlier this year and guided them to the Uruguayan Premier Division title, scoring four times in 16 games. He also has three caps for the Argentine national side after playing in World Cup qualifiers in 2011.

A friend said: "It's obviously very serious but it could have been much worse.

"He's lucky to still have his eyesight and he's acutely aware of that."

Boy, 16, admits manslaughter of stabbed dad, 23

A 16-YEAR-OLD boy has admitted the manslaughter of a father-of-one who died after being stabbed last summer.

The youth, who cannot be named because of his age, will be sentenced later this month at Birmingham Crown Court after pleading guilty to the unlawful killing of Troy Paul (above).

Mr Paul, 23, died after being stabbed in the Kingstanding area of Birmingham in July last year.

His killer admitted a charge of possessing an offensive weapon, namely a kitchen knife, on July 8 in Twickenham Road, Kingstanding.

He also entered a not guilty plea to a charge of murder but admitted manslaughter on the same date.

Prosecutor Michael Burrows QC told the court the not guilty plea to murder was accepted by the Crown.

But Mr Burrows said the Crown disputed the causation of "significant injuries" suffered by the youth.

Docs deliver boy after pregnant mum shot dead

DOCTORS successfully delivered a baby boy whose mother had been fatally shot, police in Ohio said.

Officers said the pregnant woman was shot on Monday night at a home a few miles west of central Columbus.

A man was also seriously wounded in the incident.

The baby boy is in hospital in a critical condition.

Sergeant Jeff Strayer revealed that the murdered woman was about 35 weeks pregnant.

Police said it appears the shooting occurred during a robbery at the home shortly before midnight.

Investigators have not released any names.

Police are searching for a sports utility vehicle that was damaged by gunfire.

WE'RE No1 FOR MOVIE BABES

ALL THE BOOBS IN THE WORLD!

A NEW blockbuster movie may promise tons of cash but these boobs-out babes are PRICELESS!

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

All the Money in the World hit cinemas this week in one of the first offerings of 2018.

With a cast crammed full of topless beauties and a plot set to grip audiences, this gritty thriller really packs a punch.

It follows the story of the Mafia's kidnapping of teenager John Paul Getty III and the attempts by his mum to persuade his billionaire grandfather to pay a £17million ransom.

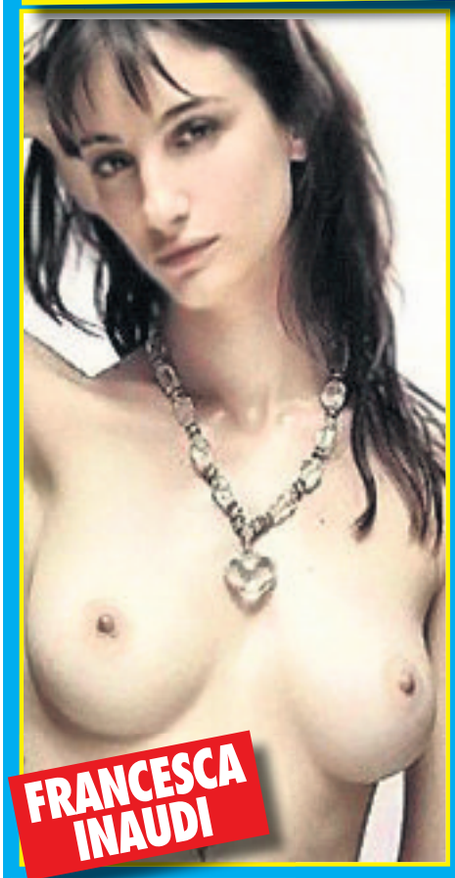

Michelle Williams, 37, plays the kidnapped boy's mum, Gail Harris in the new movie.

Sadly she's unlikely to repeat her topless scenes from 2008 film, Incendiary.

Busty brunette Stacy Martin, 26, takes on the role of Nancy Getty's secretary, and recently showed off her pert pair in 2015 movie The Lady in the Car with Glasses and a Gun.

Meanwhile Francesca Inaudi, 40, plays a prostitute in the film and showed why she got the role when she posed for these raunchy snaps.

Finally Olivia Magnani, 42, also appears briefly in the film but her boobs are worth another ogle – as she whipped 'em out in a 2004 Italian crime flick.

Prime Suspect audition hit Freddie for six

FORMER England cricketing ace Andrew 'Freddie' Flintoff revealed he was once asked to audition for a role in classic drama Prime Suspect.

Freddie, 40, is currently in Kay Mellor and Nick Lloyd Webber's Fat Friends the Musical – which is based on the hit ITV series.

But his acting career could have started a lot earlier.

He revealed Prime Suspect author Lynda La Plante, 74, wanted him to audition for last year's prequel series.

Ex-England captain Freddie (above) said: "I said, 'I'll have a try'.

"I had no experience, no nothing. I got to the last two or three

"I didn't get it because I think the network thought it was too much of a risk, which I was fine with."

After losing out on the Prime Suspect gig, Freddie was then invited to meet Kay, 66, and he then bagged his role on the stage show Fat Friends the Musical.

And his first acting role has given him food for thought. He said: "I can't imagine I'm going to be in the next Phantom, but I would like to do drama on TV.

"I'm doing the very best I can. And if people want to come and watch me do this, that's their decision."

Boys seized over chicken deaths

THREE boys have been arrested on suspicion of animal cruelty following the death of 11 chickens.

Police launched an investigation after receiving a report of an incident at an address in Sittingbourne, Kent, on December 28.

A Kent Police spokesman said: "Following inquiries, officers arrested a 12-year-old, a 13-year-old and a 14-year-old, all from Sittingbourne, on suspicion of causing criminal damage and animal cruelty.

"They have since been released pending further investigation."

MAN PARALYSED CHASING MONKEY WHO STOLE HIS HAT

MONKEY TROUBLE: Jeff and his favourite hat

DOZY Jeff Swedenhjelm has been paralysed after he plunged from a roof while chasing a monkey that nicked his favourite hat.

He fell 33 feet after refusing to give up the chase for the monkey, which had stolen his woollen beanie.

Doctors now say he may never walk again after severely damaging his spinal cord.

The American, 42, lives in Bali, where the accident happened.

His daughter Lyric, 21, said her dad was determined to get his hat back because it was a souvenir of his favourite football team.

Mess

The monkey struck when Jeff sheltered under a pavilion to avoid a heavy downpour.

Lyric said: "A monkey reached down and grabbed his favourite hat off his head.

"His Steelers hat – which, if you know him, he ain't just gonna give that thing up.

"He's like, 'That's my hat, I need it,' and you know Pittsburgh Steelers merch is everywhere but, in Bali, it's a lot harder to come by, to buy a new hat, so he wasn't going to let it go very easily.

"So he climbed up on the roof of the pavilion, a huge pavilion.

"It was multi-storey, from what he told me,

news@sundaysport.co.uk

and he walked on the roof.

"He got up to the second floor, got up to the third floor and he was trying to get the monkey to just drop it and run away.

"That's the last memory he had.

"He understands that the way that he got into this mess is honestly pretty silly, but the seriousness kind of takes away from that."

Doctors are hopeful a series of surgeries may give him some feeling back in his body if they can relieve the pressure on his spine.

But Lyric said: "Only time will tell. We aren't completely positive."

And she added: "He didn't get the hat back. Damn monkeys."

STUNNING Victoria Silvstedt shot to fame at the 1993 Miss World beauty pageant but she's still got her jaw-dropping figure.

The beauty but almost spilled out of her white bikini top when she bent over while soaking up the sun in the West Indies isle of St Barts over the weekend.

Victoria, 43, managed to get a grip – as did many of her male admirers!

9 DEAD IN GANG WAR JAIL BATTLE

TERROR PRISON: Bodies were burned

NINE prisoners were killed and 14 injured as inmates from rival gangs battled at a prison in Brazil's Goias state on Monday.

The violence at the Colonia Agroindustrial prison in the Aparecida de Goiania Complex erupted when inmates from one cellblock invaded three others where prisoners from rival gangs are housed.

The attackers set mattresses on fire when they entered the corridors and burned the bodies of those who were killed.

Firefighters were able to contain the fire.

Authorities confirmed the number of dead, but said identifications had not yet been made.

Fled

Local media said 106 inmates escaped during the riot, and officials had recaptured 29.

The reports said 127 other inmates fled during the violence but returned voluntarily.

Officers from the Special Penitentiary Operations Group regained control of the prison with the support of military police about two hours after the riot started.

One year ago, a prison riot at the Anisio Jobim Penitentiary Complex in Amazonas state caused 56 deaths.

A day later, four prisoners were killed at the Puraqueuqara Prison Unit in the same state.

Thirty-three inmates died on January 6 in a prison riot in Roraima state, and 26 were killed on January 14 when inmates rebelled at Alcacuz prison in Rio Grande do Norte.

JAMIE: I MAKE UP 'PERVY' RECIPES

TELEVISION chef Jamie Oliver says he's been spicing up his recipes with SAUCY content ever since he started releasing books.

Jamie, 42, who is also known as the 'Naked Chef', revealed he's been inserting bits of sexual innuendo and cheeky lines into his cookbooks for years.

Essex lad Jamie (below) made the naughty confession during a recent appearance on a chat show and said: "To be honest, I have done pervy recipes.

"I write a couple of naughty ones in each book. I always try. If you're talking about food to arouse, I think anything made can be lovely."

His latest book, entitled 5 Ingredients, includes an instruction which reads 'Rub all over, getting into all the cracks and crannies'.

The book's introduction is equally as smutty, reading: "All you have to do is follow the instructions, move quickly and enjoy the ride."

amber MAE

NAUGHTY minx Amber Mae has been caught RED HANDED shagging in the middle of a FOREST.

Amber, 24, confessed to once getting her own piece of wood while at one with nature in a forest near her parents' house.

But the 34C stunna was caught by a couple walking their dogs.

Amber revealed: "I once had sex with a guy in a forest. He was so hot and I couldn't wait to have sex with him.

"We were both living with our parents at the time, so we had nowhere to go to do naughty stuff.

"We sneaked off into the woods to have sex and ended up doing it between the trees. I was worried we'd be caught and it's just my luck that we were – a dog-walking couple stumbled on us. I was mortified!"

When Amber's not finding places outdoors to get jiggy, the Manchester-born firecracker is more than happy to bend over on all fours.

She said: "My favourite position is doggy-style. It's amazing!

"I actually love it a little bit rough. You can have the guy behind you pulling on your hair and spanking your bum – and it burns a lot of calories!"

TEACHER'S SEX WITH 2 BOY PUPILS

ROMPS: Lake denies nine sex charges

A TEACHER has denied having sex with two male students.

Darci Lake, 23, appeared in court in Ohio charged with nine sex offences against the teenagers.

Both were students at Maysville High Scool in Zanesville, Ohio.

One was 16 and the other was 14 when it is claimed they had sex for the first time with the former full-time substitute teacher.

Lake, who was 22 when the alleged affairs began, faces a maximum five years in prison for each charge.

She denies all of them.

Lake, who is also a former student at the same school, was arrested after relatives and staff became suspicious.

Paramedic 'kill plot to sell bodies'

AN ambulanceman has been arrested on suspicion of murdering patients and then selling their bodies to the mafia.

Davide Garofalo, 42, from Sicily, is alleged to have killed at least three people injecting air into patients' veins, and possibly up to 50.

In what has been dubbed the "ambulance of death" investigation, Mr Garofalo is accused of killing them by triggering an embolism – the obstruction of an artery, usually with an air bubble or blood clot.

Police are now analysing around 50 suspicious deaths that took place in the town of Biancavilla near Catania in eastern Sicily over four years.

They are working on the theory that the stretcher bearer may have been working in co-operation with a local Cosa Nostra clan, the Sicilian mafia.

They think Mr Garofalo, a father of three, sent the dead patients to funeral businesses with links to organised crime, for which he was paid 300 euros a corpse.

His alleged victims were all reportedly terminally ill and the ambulance was taking them from the hospital to their homes so they could die in peace with their loved ones.

Another three alleged accomplices are being investigated by police.

Drunkard must be sober to see horse

A JUDGE has ruled that a woman charged with being drunk while riding a horse can visit her animal – but only if she is sober.

Donna Byrne, 53, was pissed out of her head while riding her steed, named Bo Duke, on a busy road.

Cops said Byrne smelled of alcohol, had watery bloodshot eyes and was staggering when they arrived.

She was arrested and charged with animal neglect by putting Bo Duke in jeopardy of being injured or killed.

A breath test showed that Byrne was over twice the legal limit for being in charge of a 'vehicle' on Florida roads.

Cops seized the horse and transported it to their livestock facility.

Byrne has temporarily been ruled unfit to care for Bo Duke, but a judge ruled that she should be allowed to see the horse – but not if she's pissed.

FIREWORKS KILL 2 AT NEW YEAR PARTY

TWO men were killed by fireworks as they celebrated New Year's Eve.

In one incident, a 35-year-old man died when fireworks exploded in front of him as he tried to launch them for party guests in a garden.

Horrified revellers provided immediate first aid, but the man died at the scene in Brandenburg, Germany.

By GRACE HOOPER

Explosive

In the second incident just 70 miles away, a 19-year-old man died trying to set off home-made fireworks at a family party.

He was killed when he was hit in the head by the explosive device in front of other revellers.

Both victims died as a result of "improper handling" of fireworks, said cops.

Police have launched criminal investigations into both deaths, as detectives try to trace the origins of the explosive devices and their components.

Germany suffered a spate of incidents involving fireworks on New Year's eve.

Doctors in Berlin reported performing multiple amputations after revellers suffered gruesome hand injuries in either fireworks or firecracker mishaps.

Outrage over 'anal muscle failure' taunt

A POLITICIAN says more gay men commit suicide because they have been bummed so much their arse muscles fail.

Zurich City Council member Daniel Regli (above) made the statement during a budget debate on funding for sex education.

Regli criticised a sex ed website, Lust and Frust, saying the site, supported by the city's education department, promotes homosexuality and promiscuity but doesn't say anything about "homosexuals with multiple partners take their lives between the ages of 30 and 40…because their anal muscle is not holding up as it should."

His remarks brought laughter and chaos in the council hall until Mayor Corine Mauch, who is openly lesbian, called for order.

Even Regli's own party criticised him, with Marco Denoth, Swiss People's Party (SVP) co-president, saying, "I do not want to see him any more."

Man rigged door to 'electrocute' wife

A JEALOUS husband rigged the front door of his home so his estranged pregnant wife would be electrocuted when she opened it.

In a Facebook post, Flagler County Sheriff Rick Staley called the case one of the "most bizarre domestic violence cases" he's seen.

Deputies said Michael Wilson, 32, was arrested in Knoxville, Tennessee, and faces charges of attempted aggravated battery on a pregnant woman and grand theft of a firearm.

The woman's father called cops after Wilson made suspicious statements about keeping children away from the door of the Palm Coast home.

Deputies found the front door barricaded, with burn marks near the door handle.

When a deputy kicked the door, a large spark was observed.

GAME OF MOANS!

MIGHTY WEAPON: Jon Snow with his Longclaw

Sex toy fans love dildo shaped like TV series sword

FANTASY drama fans are buzzing about a brand new Game of Thrones-inspired SEX TOY.

Although most followers of the HBO fantasy show can't wait for the next series, GeekySexToys.com are helping them fill a hole – thanks to a new sex aid.

Their grey dildo is based on Jon Snow's sword Longclaw, but the blade on their adult device resembles a COCK.

Appropriately named 'Game of Moans – Long Shaft', the 6.5ins plastic member is fashioned on Longclaw, the Valerian steel sword owned by 31-year-old Kit Harrington's character in the drama.

It also features a direwolf on the top of the grey rod and a sturdy handle for a steady grip.

And the sword even has lifelike veins and lumps on it to make it more knob-like.

Shaft

The product description reads: "Have you been dreaming of a long, thick shaft? Then this dildo sword will fulfil your fantasy.

"You know nothing until you've experienced orgasmic sensations with this dildo sword.

"The sword's hilt also allows for maximum penetration and pleasure."

Priced at £85 fans of the TV series can now enjoy some private time with their favourite character's weapon.

And if you're not a Game of Thrones nut there's plenty of other options on the Aussie firm's website.

They also flog vibrators with heads shaped into Star Wars characters – including Darth Vadar and R2-D2, as well as light-up lightsabre vibes for those wanting to embrace the dark side.

And for anal fiends, there's a Power Rangers range called 'The Mighty Moaning Anal Rangers'.

WOMAN BANNED FROM WOKING FOR SEX IN PUBLIC

...she also punched a blind man and racially abused cop

A WOMAN caught riding naked on a motorcycle through a town centre, having sex in a busy high street and punching a blind man has been jailed and banned from an entire town.

Blonde Natasha Claus will be outlawed from Woking, Surrey, when she comes out of prison.

Claus, 36, admitted charges including outraging public decency, which followed being caught in the middle of a sexual act with a man which Judge Moss said was "no doubt for money".

Kicked

The judge also made reference to a further indecent incident, saying: "I had the impression there was some reference to her riding around on a motorbike with no clothes on, but that has nothing to do with the charges today."

He sent repeat offender Claus to jail for 13 months for a string of offences, including breaching a previous suspended jail term.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Claus appeared at Guildford Crown Court to be sentenced last week.

The court also heard how after punching the blind man in the chest in an argument, she assaulted two police officers as they tried to arrest her.

Claus was reported to have kicked one officer in the leg and racially harassed another.

Prosecutor John Upton said: The officers attempted to take her to a police car.

"At this stage she tried to walk away. PC Hopper took hold of her left arm and PC Haslan her right. She pushed her arms away and resisted.

"She kicked PC Hopper in the leg and yelled 'you Paki ct' at least twice."

When a woman spotted Claus engaging in sexual behaviour in the middle of the street and began remonstrating with her, Claus stood up and threatened to punch her.

Mr Upton said: "She was reported to be being fingered by a man.

"When Ms Claus was searched at the scene by the police, she had done her jeans up but her knickers were found in her handbag."

Defence barrister Timothy Leete told the court how Claus had become addicted to inhaling butane gas and was struggling to come to terms with her mother's suicide.

Sentencing her, Judge Moss described Claus as "a mess".

Ballet leader retires but denies sexual misconduct claims

NEW York City Ballet's leader Peter Martins is retiring as the company investigates accusations of sexual misconduct.

The 71-year-old (above) made the announcement in a letter to the company's board of directors, saying he continues to deny the allegations.

Martins denies sexually harassing or abusing members of the company, including dancers.

In his letter, he said he had "co-operated fully" in the investigation and that the scandal had "exacted a painful toll on me and my family".

He said it was time to retire to "bring an end to this disruption which has enveloped the Ballet".

Board chairman Charles Scharf said: "The board takes seriously the allegations that have been made against him and we expect the independent investigation of those allegations to be completed soon."

Climbers killed in Table Mountain fall

TWO people have died and a third has been injured in a climbing accident on Table Mountain, a major tourist destination in the South African city of Cape Town.

Local media reports said two bodies were recovered on Tuesday morning after emergency responders abseiled from a cable car to rescue the survivor late on Monday.

After the rescue operation, hundreds of tourists who had been stranded for hours on top of the mountain were ferried to the bottom in cable cars.

The three climbers were using ropes to abseil down the mountain when they fell – and two died when they hit the ground.

Girls just wanna have solo fun!

Kirsty Mitchell says...

"I DEFINITELY think it's true that orgasms are better when you do them yourself – I always climax harder playing with myself than I ever have with a man."

Tanya Thompson says...

"I'M not so sure about these results – if these women are with a man who knows what to do then they really won't have any problem having a mind-blowing orgasm."

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

A SEX scientist has discovered that the best orgasms happen when you give them to YOURSELF.

Dr Nicole Prause, who runs her own lab Liberos, has been exploring the scientific facts behind shagging sessions for more than a decade.

After years of studying the global habits of satisfaction and the techniques we all use to achieve the Big O, she reckons we get the best ones ourselves.

Dr Prause said people are more likely to have a better, stronger orgasm when they indulge in a little bit of self-loving.

While our partners may like to think they know how to show us a good time, this isn't always the case.

Although sharing a horny bonk with a partner might make you feel better, you'll get better orgasms if you ditch them altogether.

Intensity

American Dr Prause conducted a survey which asked people to rate the intensity of every orgasm they had over a certain time period.

They had to rate the ones they had through self-stimulation and then compare them with those they have with a partner.

Results showed that engaging in a solo sex session does in fact produce better and more powerful orgasms than partners give us.

Dr Prause revealed: "People asked to rate the intensity of their orgasms consistently say that their orgasms from self-stimulation feel more intense than their orgasms with a partner."

Feedback showed that self-pleasure can be more enjoyable because people know themselves how their bodies respond better than anyone else.

An intimate alone session also allows people to decide how many times people can climax and how long you want to spend pleasuring yourself.

If that wasn't enough to sway you, there are also some health benefits to going solo as masturbation can aid sleep and even regulate stress levels.

Getting intimate can also make you happier, as it releases chemical endorphins dopamine and oxytocin.

Here, we asked three Sport stunnas about their self-loving sessions…

Cara Bailey says…

"TOYS are a perfect way to play – I get mine out every night for at least an hour, and I love giving myself multiple orgasms.

But I'll admit a real cock is much better than a plastic one!"

#SEX HEALTH

Want to get thin? Then get naked – for sex!

Mandy Smith

WITH the New Year comes a ton of resolutions – but if you've vowed to lose weight then SEXERCISE is the best way to shed the pounds.

Over the festive period, the average person chomps a whopping 7,000 extra calories so there are plenty of us planning to get fit in 2018.

But forget gym membership, because a bedroom workout is not only more fun but also burns a loads of calories.

The longer and more vigorous the shagging session, the more fat you will burn – but some sex positions are even better at working up a sweat.

Girl on Top is the best for working out calves and quads and if the female squeezes her legs into her man's sides it will work their core harder and burn 207 calories in 30 minutes.

And it's not just full penetration which gets the heart rate up – giving oral sex for an hour can burn over 200 calories, the equivalent of walking for 70 minutes or doing 30 hard-core minutes on a rowing machine.

Oral

If you want to ramp it up even further, Los Angeles-based sexologist Jaiya Kinzbach, recommends doing push-ups during the act or even trying out some yoga.

She said: "You can do a little yoga. Try Plank position into Downward Facing Dog and then back into plank, where you can go lower down and do some oral stimulation."

However, if you're just not in the mood for a bonking session, a decent snog can burn up to 140 calories an hour.

But if you really want to lose weight you'd better gain an active sex life.

Midweek Sport stunna Mandy Smith said: "Like most other people, I've piled on the pounds this Christmas thanks to too many pigs in blankets and loads of selection boxes!

"I was going to wait for all the gym offers to come pouring in now January has strated but now I might just stay at home and give myself a workout.

"If shagging burns this many calories then there's no need for me to sweat away on the treadmill, I'll just get naked and start bonking.

"SoI'll be sat on Tinder swiping through men who are willing to become my very own personal trainer, with ALL the added extras."

#MY SEX FANTASY

‘I love being spanked on my bare bum with a whipping paddle’

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

KINKY Kara King is on the lookout for a man willing to be her MASTER in the bedroom.

The 30-year-old Glasgow babe says she likes it rough and is partial to being spanked.

The 34EE beauty told the Sport: “I just love a man taking control in the bedroom. It’s such a massive turn on.

“I’m no pushover in real life but like to be submissive when it comes to sex.

“I get so aroused by a guy bossing me about and telling me what to do.

“I love to be spanked on my bare bum with a whipping paddle and told what a naughty girl I am. I like some hair pulling too.

Hot

“I’ve always liked rough sex, it heightens your senses and gets the adrenaline going. It’s so animalistic.

“I love the thought of being in a sex dungeon. It’s the idea of allowing yourself to be used as a sexual object.

“Being tied to a chair would be really hot. I’d dress up for the part, wearing latex or a black lacy number.

“Perhaps the guy would want to gag me too.

“A little bit of pain would be a turn on – some nipple clamps for example. Nothing too extreme though!

Pain is kinky, because it’s pushing you to your extreme limits.”

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 22-year-old single girl and I've been having driving lessons for six months.

My instructor is a hunky guy in his 30s and we have been having sex after my hour-long lessons finish, in the back of his Ford Fiesta – and more recently at his friend's flat.

He's very well-endowed – about nine inches erect – and he knows how to use it.

One night after a lesson we went to the flat and he brought me off in about a minute using his tongue to lick me out.

Then I went down on him and he talked dirty as I licked and sucked on his massive cock.

After that I got on all fours and he slipped into me from behind and I soon experienced another shuddering orgasm.

The problem is he's married with kids and refuses to leave them to be with me. Should I continue this relationship?

FG, Cambs

Ashleigh says...
NO way – find yourself another fella who's single and wants to be with you. Ditch this loser immediately!

Dear Ashleigh,

MY flatmate is a lesbian and I love her. I'm a 27-year-old guy and I've known this girl for four years.

We work together and decided to share a flat to save money. We've always got on well and have had sex together several times.

One time, she'd just broken up with a girlfriend and was a bit upset. As I consoled her, one thing led to another and we ended up starkers in bed.

I went down on her and licked her moist fanny then she took my cock in her mouth and gave me oral.

Then I shagged her from behind and it was amazing. When we'd both climaxed we had a 69er.

But a couple of nights later she brought another girl back and has been seeing her ever since.

I'm devastated. What should I do?

DA, Manchester

Ashleigh says...
WAIT until they split up and give your pal a shoulder to cry on again.

I've been an ass to the ex

Dear Ashleigh,

I RECENTLY found out that my fiancée of three years has been shagging the bloke who lives next door, so after a blazing row I threw her out of our house.

A few days later she phoned me to say she was coming around the next evening to pick her things up, so I started to sort out all her stuff.

As I was dividing everything up, I found a large, stuffed donkey she bought in Blackpool a few years ago, so I thought I'd give her a special leaving present.

I made a hole in the donkey's arse and began shagging it – with the intention of filling it with my spunk before handing it over.

But I wasn't quite finished when her mother walked in and saw what I was doing.

I miss my ex, but reckon her mum has spilled the beans about me and the donkey. Help!

JP, Liverpool

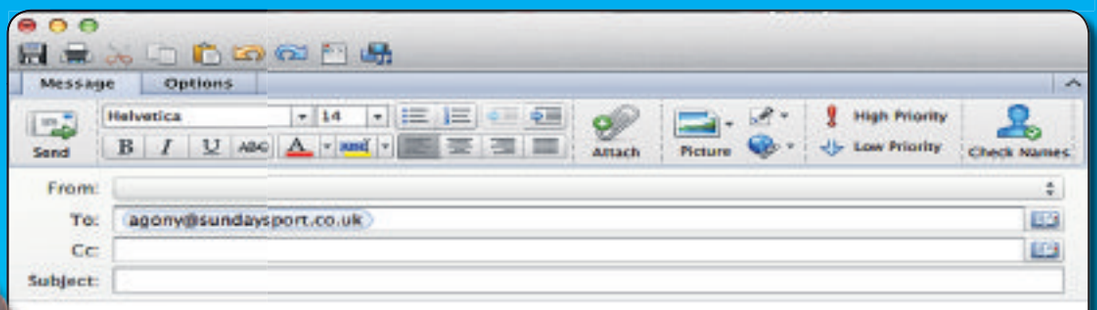

Ashleigh says...

YOU'LL have to put in loads of donkey work to win her mum over – then you may have a chance with your ex.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Generous lover leaves me panting for more!

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a divorcee in my early 30s and since my husband left me I haven't done a lot of socialising.

But a neighbour recently encouraged me to get out more, so I started going out to pubs and clubs.

It was on one of these nights out that I met a man and we hit it off from the beginning, even though I was a bit cautious when it came to sex.

But after a dinner out and a few drinks I invited him back to my house where we had a few more drinks and then began to get intimate on the sofa.

His foreplay was amazing, truly wonderful. He teased me with his fingers and then his agile tongue played against my love-bean until I was begging him to enter me.

He thrust deeply, making me squeal with delight. And when we reached orgasm he was so big and hard I felt the whole of me being filled.

Afterwards he apologised for not being able to stay and I was a bit suspicious, thinking he must be married or something.

When I cleared up my clothes I was puzzled when I couldn't find the lacy black panties I'd been wearing.

The next time he came round was about a week later and this time, after a trip to the cinema, we came back and took things more leisurely, undressing each other in the dim light of the bedside lamp.

I was already naked when I knelt down to undo and drop his trousers.

Underneath, to my shock, he was wearing my knickers, stretched to the limit by his enormous erection.

He laughed and confessed he wore them to remind him of our first evening together.

I laughed and got over my initial shock and we went on to have the most wonderful sex.

Climax

Again he showed himself to be a master of bringing me to the brink of climax over and over, and by the time he put his handsome tool between my swollen love-lips I was swiftly in the throes of a massive multiple orgasm.

A few days later we met again and this time I pressed him to show me his home.

He seemed a bit reluctant and again my suspicions were aroused like before.

But they eased when he finally agreed.

It turns out he lives in a very well-kept apartment which he bought after splitting with his ex-wife.

His bedroom was lovely but I could not help but notice a partly-open drawer and inside were about TWENTY pairs of silky smalls!

When I confronted him he admitted he liked to keep and wear mementos of past lovers.

Now I feel I could be discarded just as easily as those knickers.

Am I worrying too much?

AC, Dorset

Ashleigh says...

HE seems to have quite a harmless little fetish. See how things go.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been doing a first aid course at work with the factory nurse.

She is well tasty and when she asked me to demonstrate the kiss of life on her I happily obliged, slipping my tongue between her lips while I did so.

Then she brought my dick to life with a few intimate kisses of her own.

Now she wants me to go on to the advanced course with her.

What will that involve?

DR Kent

Ashleigh says...

HAND relief, or mouth-to-cock!

Dear Ashleigh,

MY driving instructor is a randy blonde lady in her early 40s with huge knockers and I'm an 18-year-old student.

After my first lesson she gave me a kiss and said I'd done well, and on my second lesson we found a quiet lane where I parked up she started feeling my knob.

She said she loved the taste of young cock and took my dick to the back of her throat.

I undid her bra and felt her tits as she sucked on me and just as I was about to release my load I pulled her up and spunked over her tits.

After my third lesson we gave her back seat a test drive.

She loved it as I fked her doggy style and she was wearing stockings so I almost exploded inside her within minutes.

We had sex after most of my lessons, but after I passed my test last week she said we cannot see each other any more.

I'm gutted and can't get this woman out of my head.

Now she's shagging some other young lad – how can I win her back?

MB, Lincoln

Ashleigh says...

I FEAR you won't be able to put her out of your mind. So just put it down to experience and try to find a girl nearer your own age.

Dear Ashleigh,

MY girlfriend loves to watch me have sex with her pals.

She will watch as they suck me off and then I fk them.

The night often ends up with me screwing my bird and her pal right up the shitter, so I can't really complain!

But the problem is that she now wants to watch me shag her MOTHER!

Her 48-year-old mum is pretty tasty, I have to say.

She's a right MILF with nice tits and a plump arse.

But don't you think that my girlfriend is a bit of a weirdo?

LS, Essex

Ashleigh says...

WHATEVER floats her boat – if you fancy giving her mum one, go for it!

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

JASMINE

NURSING assistant Oliver Farrow can't get enough of exotic glamour girl Jasmine.

Oliver, 31, from Blackburn, emailed in asking for his own topless snap of 22-year-old Hounslow honey Jasmine after spotting her boobs in the Sport.

He said: "We were doing our rounds the other day, cleaning folk up and giving them their meds and one of the fellas had a Sport.

"He gave it to me and that night I had a great time ogling her boobs – but now I want my own photo of Jasmine's 34C's please."

GEMMA MASSEY

WANNABE rocker Grant Johnson has his eyes set on the sex, drugs, and rock 'n' roll lifestyle and reckons Gemma would be the perfect girl for him.

Grant, 28, is a drummer in a rock band who regularly play gigs in pubs and clubs around Wolverhampton.

And he said inked-up 32E stunna Gemma, 32, from Tamworth, would be an ideal roadie.

He said: "Gemma looks like she could be proper naughty – those tattoos, those dark brown eyes, the dark hair, not to mention those perfect boobs!"

CHRISTINA LEE

DOG walkerFrank Hamworth begged the Midweek Sport for a boobs-out photo of curvy Christina Lee.

Frank, 54, who owns his doggy business in Sunderland, wrote in saying he was desperate to see 24-year-old Christina's 32DD's.

He said: "I look after dogs all day and I see plenty of them out and about, I want a real woman to look at when I'm done for the day.

"Can I have a topless picture? Cheers!"

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper! Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

#CAM GIRL OF

By BECCAS STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

GORGEOUS Maddie is the perfect cure for those January blues, as she'll be lighting up Babestation this week.

The curvy Essex beauty is this week's Babestation Cam Girl of the Week – and judging by these red-hot snaps it's not hard to see why she's such a fan favourite.

Maddie, 24, gave Midweek Sport an exclusive look at just what she can offer Babestation fans as she went completely NAKED for these X-rated shots.

She flaunted her 32E knockers and even peeled off her black thong to pose in a host of suggestive positions.

As well as her sweater-stretching norks, Maddie also showed off her very peachy derrière.

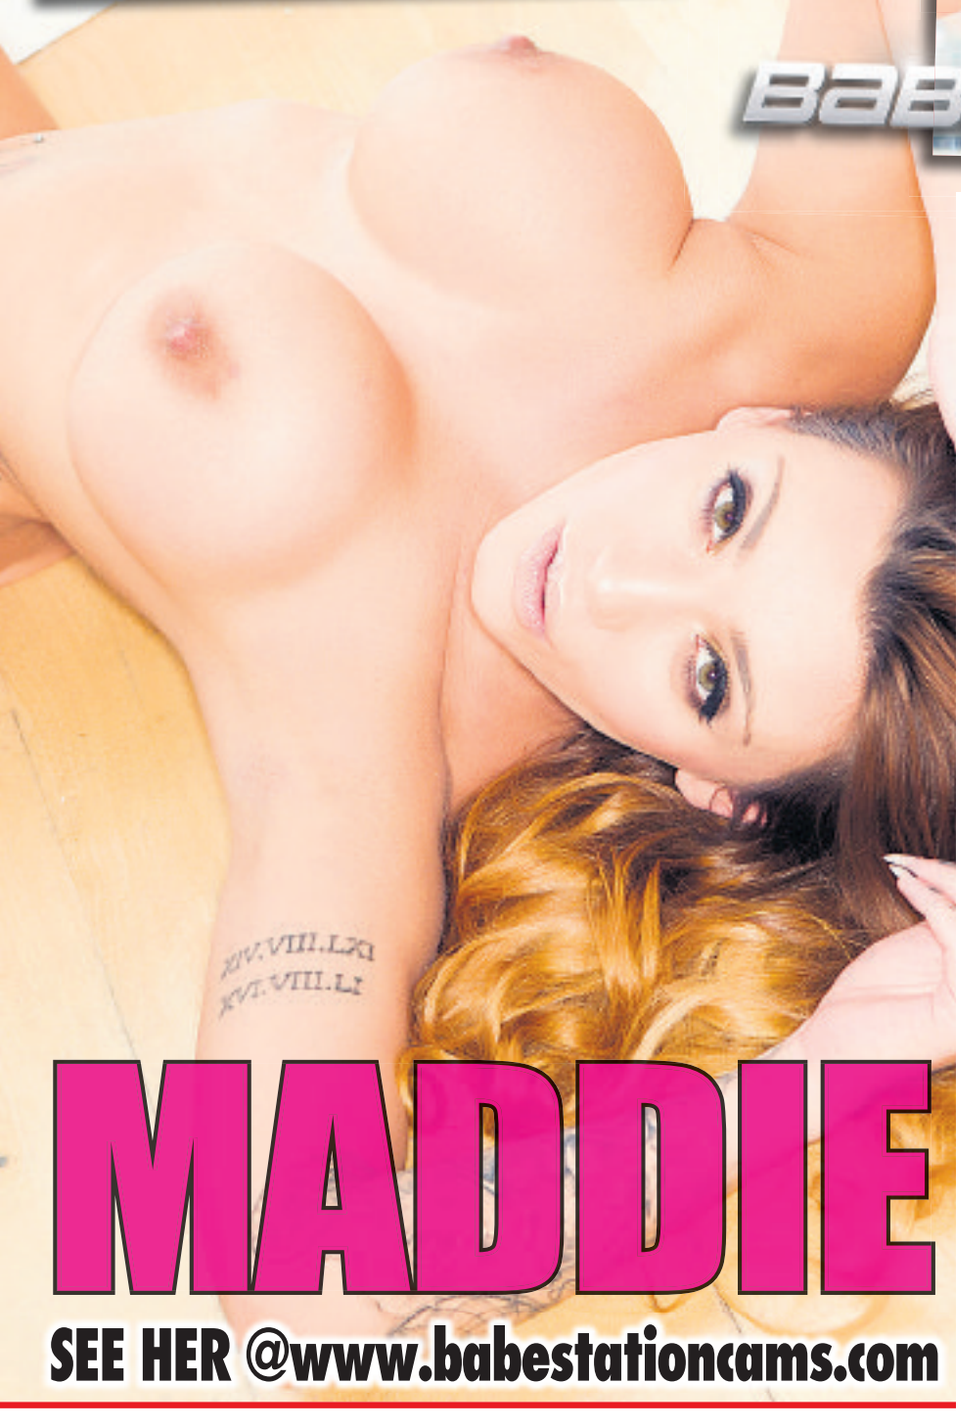

If she's got your pulse racing and trousers stirring, log on to Babestation where Maddie and a whole host of hotties will be stripping off just for you.

Sydney cast in Stone for Lion Mark

OPENER HAS GREAT MEMORIES OF SCG

HOPING FOR BIG FINISH: Mark Stoneman

MARK Stoneman is excited to be back at the SCG — more than a decade after being there as a fan.

The England opener was with the barmy army at the famous Sydney Cricket Ground in 2007.

Things didn't go well for the Three Lions then as the Aussies rolled them over on their way to a 5-0 Ashes whitewash.

But the atmosphere was enough to have Stoneman dreaming about being out there playing for the England. Now his dream is set to come true as the final Test of the series starts tonight.

CRICKET: Fifth Ashes Test starts 11.30pm tonight

The tour hasn't been much better than the 2006-7 as Joe Root's men trail 3-0.

But there was some encouragement in Melbourne where England finally got their batting act together.

Now Stoneman is looking for a Test victory to take from a tough couple of months.

And he's hoping to be inspired by has last trip to the ground. He said: "It was incredible.

"The Barmy Army were in full voice, and Brett Lee was steaming.

"I was thinking how good it would be to be out there.

"I dreamed about it. It was certainly a long way off.

Icing

"It's been a long and winding road in between — but looking back, I wouldn't have had it any other way."

Stoneman admits that he is far from settled at the top of England's order and needs a big knock in Sydney where he spent a lot of time as a young cricketer. He added: "As much you try to compartmentalise and take each game as it comes — it was always going to be the icing of the tour on a personal note, to come back to Sydney, where I've spent a lot of time.

"I've got a lot of friends and family, and it's something I'm very much looking forward to.

"You take your game in various directions, and Sydney's been a massive part of that.

"I met my wife out here, and she's been a fantastic support as well — especially when things got a bit tough with the move to Surrey.

"She's always been 100% behind me, and that's played a big part at times when things aren't going as well as you'd like."

Stoneman believes he is settling into the England team at the top of the order.

He added: "The first Test at the Gabba was up there in terms of hairs on the back of the neck, going through the anthems.

"The rest of it's been great fun. I don't think you can have as much fun playing cricket as you do playing for your country in the Ashes."

FIT AGAIN: Mitchell Starc

Starc back in nets as Cummins warms up

AUSTRALIA are hoping to have their first-choice attack back at the SCG.

Mitchell Starc missed Melbourne with a bruised heel — and he's probably glad he did given how poor the pitch was.

Now he's had a decent rest, fellow quickie Pat Cummins is confident the big left-armer will be able to take the new ball for the Aussies.

He said: "He looked like he was bowling quick in the nets.

"He was running around and wasn't limping.

"I know he was really keen to play, and he was pretty confident.

"I think now it's seeing how it recovers.

"We hope he gets through training and he's all right."

With the Ashes already in the bag, Cummins also thinks it could be wise to let Starc have an extra rest. He knows from painful experience that a bruised heel is not to be taken lightly.

He said: "I'd say that's probably the big concern.

"But it's different to me. He can walk around. Each time I bowled a spell it got worse and worse.

Walk

"The way he was saying, it was almost worse in the first innings and stayed the same for the whole Perth match — and the last couple of weeks it's definitely got a lot better.

"So it's definitely different to what I had by the end of my match, or even the first innings, I could hardly walk."

Cummins thinks Starc has enough experience to know whether he's fit enough to stand the strains of an Ashes Test.

He said: "He's played a lot of cricket now, and he knows his body pretty well and what he can get through.

"I'm sure they will take a lot of it on his word."

Cummins is delighted to have put his own injury problems behind him and is looking forward to playing on his own ground.

He said: "It's really exciting. At the start of the summer the SCG felt a long way away. But it's gone pretty quickly and I'm pretty pumped.

"I've been here as a kid watching in the stands, so to be out here playing in an Ashes will be pretty special."

THE WINNING POST

Nicholls has Classe

PAUL Nicholls will be hoping to make another profitable journey to Shropshire this afternoon as he saddles a couple of interesting runners.

By BEN MORGAN

The pick of them looks to be COPAIN DE CLASSE (NAP) who runs in the novice chase at 2.20. As a physical specimen he is certainly something marvel over and connections will be hoping he can now fulfill his obvious potential.

His opening run over fences was full of promise as he only tired late on but the form of that race is working out well and a repeat of that would surely be enough to win this.

With that said, I think the race is deeper than it looks on paper but I am still extremely keen on Nicholls' runner.

Another interesting Ditcheataraider is Thedellercheckout who comes with a reputation after costing a pretty penny in the summer.

His two runs to date have shown promise but I am going to take him on with SPIDER'S BITE. Henry Daly's horse has been crying out for this step up in trip after being outpaced over shorter in his opening two hurdle runs.

He is most definitely a chaser in the making, but he has shown enough ability to suggest he can win a hurdle race or two this year. It is a deep race with many fancied types in there but the forecast slow ground may just blunt one or two's pace which will play into the hands of the selection.

On recent form, I would suggest that HEDGEINATOR would merely just have to get around safely to gain victory in the 3.20. His second last time to Pete The Feat reads very well and his rivals today don't have that level of form in the book.

Top conditional, James Bowen, has been booked to ride and he has good thing written all over him.

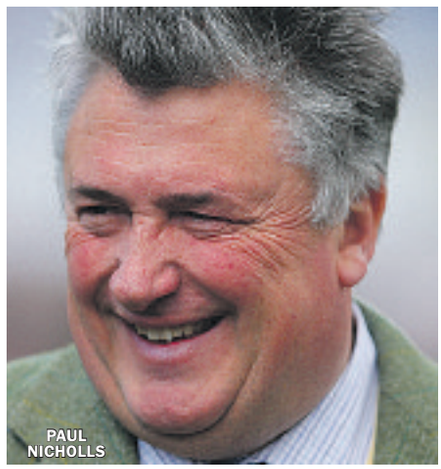

SEA STORY was heavily backed last time at Ludlow but she unshipped her rider only three furlongs in, which would have had backers tearing their hair out.

Kim Bailey tries his luck again and given his record in Ludlow bumpers, it will be a brave punter that backs against her.

Being a well bred daughter of Black Sam Bellamy I would hope she could win at least one or two bumpers this year before progressing further over hurdles.

HIP OP: Murray

Muzza may miss Aussie for surgery

TENNIS

ANDY Murray is a major doubt for the Australian Open with his pesky hip problem.

The Scot may need surgery on the injury that has kept him off the court since Wimbledon. With the Aussie Open less than two weeks away, that would obviously mean he misses out.

Murray has already been forced to cry off from the Brisbane International as he's still in too much pain to play properly.

Now the 30-year-old admits he may have to go under the knife which would mean a couple of months off.

He said: "In the short term I'm going to be staying in Australia for the next couple of days to see if my hip settles down a bit and will decide by the weekend whether to stay out here or fly home to assess what I do next.

Options

"Having been recommended to treat my hip conservatively since the US Open I have done everything asked of me from a rehab perspective and worked extremely hard to try get back on the court competing.

"Having played practice sets here in Brisbane with some top players unfortunately this hasn't worked yet to get me to the level I would like so I have to reassess my options.

"Obviously continuing rehab is one option and giving my hip more time to recover.

"Surgery is also an option but the chances of a successful outcome are not as I high as I would like which has made this my secondary option and my hope has been to avoid that.

"However this is something I may have to consider but let's hope not."

Murray has slipped from world number one to 16th thanks to his long time away from competition.

Meanwhile, Joanna Konta won through to the quarter-final in Brisbane.

The Brit beat Ajla Tomljanovic 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Konta said: "It was a tough match, she played incredibly freely.

"There wasn't a lot in it but I am very happy to get through that.

"I didn't start off the way I wanted to. She played very well. "I am taking it one match at a time, every match is a battle."

There was also good news for Kyle Edmund who came from behind Denis Shapovalov in his first round match at Brisbane.

WINNER: Edmund

PREMIER LEAGUE PREVIEW:

RED HOT SON IS WELL HEUNG!

Spurs boss happy with Korean

HEUNG-MIN Son is in Harry Kane's shadow says Tottenham boss Mauricio Pochettino.

By MARK NAYLOR

He believes the South Korean is one of the best players in the Premier League.

But he doesn't get the credit he deserves because all the focus is on Kane — and Dele Alli.

The Spurs manager thinks Son plays a massive part in his team's success.

And the English media doesn't realise how much pressure he is under because of his superstar status in his homeland. There he is up there with the likes of David Beckham in the fame stakes.

Pochettino said: "When you talk about Beckham, he's a massive world icon.

"Maybe it's like this with Sonny. But here he's so humble, and he's such a normal guy. That makes him so important to us.

"I think he's such an important player for us, scoring a lot of goals and he's very consistent, in training, his performance.

"He's an important and very good player for us. It's true that the headlines are always for Harry or others, but it's important to recognise him, because he's a very great guy, a very good professional and he's always there, scoring and playing well."

Plus

Despite rarely getting his chance as an out-and-out striker Son has come through a run of five goals in seven games.

Pochettino believes having someone who can strike from deeper positions is a major plus for his squad.

He said: "Personally, us the coaching staff, we've given him the credit he deserves.

"When you are next to Harry Kane, achieving all he is and scoring so many goals, it's normal that the focus is on Harry Kane.

"But for us it's very important to show Sonny how much he's appreciated.

"And all the players, all the team, they all love him. It's not only because of his performances, but because of how he is as a man."

Pochettino has also been pouring more praise on Kane who had a scintillating 2017.

League goals to take Alan Shearer's record. He also beat the likes of Lionel Messi to be the top hitman in Europe.

The boss added: "Maybe Harry Kane with his mentality can be the same kind of player for Tottenham as Francesco Totti was for Roma.

Form

"And for us, our fans and everyone, Harry is a fantastic player, a great mentality and a fantastic professional."

For West Ham, boss David Moyes has been praising some of his own players.

Marko Arnautovic seems to have found his feet in East London and has been showing the form that made him a threat for Stoke.

Moyes believes improving his workrate has been key to hitting the target again.

The Scot said: "It was just about telling him if he wasn't going to run he wasn't going to play.

"Nobody doubts his ability and quality as a footballer. He's got to make sure his mentality side — he keeps doing it.

"There will be a few getting a clip round the ear when we get back in, though most of the players have shown a great attitude. He was always a good player but maybe he's also going better through the middle rather than out wide."

With the Hammers still flirting with relegation, Moyes admits he's had to be harsh with his squad.

Short

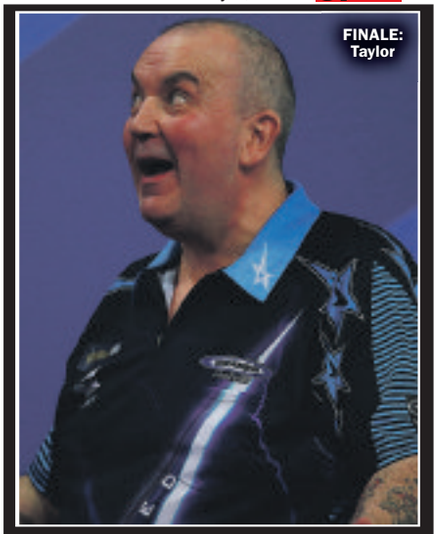

He added: "I'm giving players chances but I'm in a hurry, and I have to be in a hurry.

"Because of that I can't wait three or four months to see how you play.

"Everyone's shown a great desire and is committed in training, but we're short in some areas, and overloaded in some other areas."

Cross stunned after cutting off The Power

DARTS

NEW PDC world champion Rob Cross is still pinching himself after beating 16-time winner Phil Taylor at Alexandra Palace.

The whole crowd were desperate for The Power to pick up his 17th title in his last match before retiring from the sport.

But Cross played the darts of his life to pull off a 7-2 victory in a one-sided match.

The 27-year-old was not even born when Taylor won the first of his titles back in 1990 and it was his first appearance on the world stage.

Cross hopes this is just the start of his own glittering career.

He said: "I'm on cloud nine really. It's surreal, it's not settled in yet. It was tough to take everything in."

Cross has just hung up his screwdriver as an electrician and knows his life will never be the same again.

He added: "Darts, already, even before the World Championship had already changed my life.

NEW CHAMP: Rob Cross

Eternity

"I couldn't have expected for the way my year's gone, but it has changed my life, without a doubt — especially winning the PDC and apparently I'm going to be a very busy boy."

Cross admitted it was tough to stand on stage while Taylor's walk-on took an eternity.

But he admits that the Power deserved to milk it after everything he has achieved in the sport. He said: "Phil's walk on was emotional, I never really got dragged into that. I still stayed focused and knew what I had to do.

"With the crowd, I expected it to be a little bit more hostile towards me but where I managed to get in front in the game, I think I quietened them down and they never played as much of a part as what they did in the Van Gerwen game.

"To win that game was the confidence boost that I needed to get to the final and I think that set me up nicely."

Cross proved his win was no fluke with an average of 107.67.

He added: "Someone was saying it was third highest they've had in the final in the world.

"You're never thinking about your averages when you're playing but I knew I was playing well yesterday.

"My finishing was very good and I was finishing amazingly at times."

BIG WIN: Van Gerwen

McClaren hoots on about Owls job

SHEFFIELD Wednesday target Steve McClaren says he is ready to manage in England again.

The former Three Lions gaffer is being linked with the vacancy at the Owls who sacked Carlos Carvalhal last week.

He immediately got the job at Swansea but Wednesday looked rudderless in their 3-0 defeat against Burton Albion.

Even caretaker boss Lee Bullen is pleading with the board to get a new man in charge quickly.

He said: "After the Burton game, I said to the players the performance and result like that is embarrassing, totally unacceptable to the football club.

"The sooner the club appoints a new coach the better. Everybody can move on. As it stands, there's no announcement or new coach through the door.

"I feel sorry for the chairman. He came in and shook the hands of the players.

"The man has done so much for the football club but there have been too many performances this season that have not been acceptable."

Motivated

McClaren might not be the first choice of Owls fans but he is one of few names on a surprisingly short shortlist.

The 56-year-old left Derby in March and is back in Blighty after a five-month spell working as a consultant to Maccabi Tel Aviv in Israel.

McClaren said: "Out of sight, out of mind, so I've come back to get more in sight and in mind.

"I want to manage again, I am motivated to do that, especially after five months in Tel Aviv.

"I want to come back and manage, either here or abroad.

"It's been a wonderful experience. Israel — Tel Aviv is a special place. Football-wise, I experienced European football again in the Europa League.

"We won a cup, which was the first trophy they had won in three years and I experienced so many different things.

"It was a great experience and great learning."

WITH HIS SPORTING ODDS AND ENDS

ROB CAN CROSS SWORDS WITH VAN GERWEN

GAME ON: Michael Van Gerwen

ROB Cross is now 11/4 to add the BetVictor World Matchplay – for the Phil Taylor Trophy – to his PDC World crown at Blackpool in July after his brilliant win over the Power.

Taylor was well beaten on the night but the darting Gods let him down when his nine-dart attempt at double 12 went the wrong side of the wire. I naturally assumed that Phil had already had a nine-darter at the World Championships, but that was not the case and it would have been a fitting conclusion to a quite extraordinary career.

As it is, Michael van Gerwen (5/4 favourite for the BetVictor World Matchplay) now has a threat as world number one and we are likely to see any number of shoot-outs this year. Saturday's world championship semi-final between the pair was wonderful television.

★Arsenal entertain Chelsea tonight in what promises to be a cracking London derby.

The Gunners played well in the reverse fixture at Stamford Bridge earlier in the season, but the bottom line is they have failed to score in seven of the last nine PL games against Chelsea and I fancy the champions to win.

Chelsea are 31/20 with BetVictor with the hosts 15/8 and the draw at 5/2. Twenty-one of Chelsea's top-flight goals this season has come from Spanish players — more than any other side in Europe's top five leagues — and Alvaro Morata is 4/1 favourite to open the scoring.

Cesc Fabregas has never scored at the Emirates for Chelsea and the influential midfielder is 14/5 to find the back of Peter Cech's net this evening. Chelsea to win and both teams to score is 31/10 with BetVictor and that is the recommendation.

★The fifth and final Test begins this evening from the Sydney Cricket Ground and the noises coming out of the England camp suggest that the 20-year old leg-spinner Mason Crane will replace Tom Curran or Moeen Ali in the XI.

The SCG used to have a reputation as a wicket that helped spinners but that not been the case in recent times – that said Crane must be given his head and I hope Moeen keeps his place despite a poor series with bat and ball to date.

England are 16/5 to win with the Baggy Greens 13/20 to make it 4-0 and the draw 10/3. Mitchell Starc is winning his battle to be fit and replace Jackson Bird who must be kicking himself for his misfortune in getting the nod for just the MCG test played on a slow lifeless wicket.

Crane is 9/2 to get the most Australian wickets but I was impressed with Stuart Broad in Melbourne and he gets the vote at 11/4. Joe Root will not want to leave Australia without a Test ton and the skipper is 3/1 at BetVictor to top score for England in Sydney.

If Starc is back to full fitness it might be a difficult five days but I am excited by the prospect of seeing Crane.

★There is a competitive jumps card at Ludlow this afternoon and connections of Copain De Classe (2.20) will be hopeful that there is no more rain.

The selection was well backed for a race that was abandoned over the Festive period which suggests he is better than his current handicap mark would suggest – although he does need decent ground to be seen at his very best.

FUMING: Pickford

Pickford unpacks anger on defence

JORDAN Pickford says Everton must cut out their "sloppy" mistakes to stay in the Premier League top half.

The Toffees keeper is fuming at the poor standard of defending shown against Man United on New Year's Day.

Then the visitors were given too much time and space on the edge of the box — and beat him with long-range strikes.

Both goals could have been prevented with tighter marking.

Since Sam Allardyce took over at Goodison, the Toffees have usually been a lot tighter at the back.

And Pickford wants to get that form back quickly.

He said: "Sam has brought a good structure and balance to the side.

"I feel like we know where we stand with him. He is all about the basics and that is where we need to start.

"If we get the basics right, then we can go and play our football.

"We know what Manchester United are capable of doing and they scored two 'worldies'.

Sloppy

"But the first goal was a mistake from us up the other end of the pitch and we needed to stop it at source.

"The past couple of games have been a bit sloppy from us.

"We do enough with the gaffer on the training ground two or three days before the game. We do attack vs defence, which is about blocking shots and stopping crosses."

Pickford is being widely touted as England's No1 for the World Cup. And he is talking a good game.

He said: "I feel in a good place. I have had a lot of loan moves throughout my career so far, which helped me take this step.

"I don't feel under any pressure – I just want to keep getting better each week in training and in games. That is all I can do and as long as I can keep putting on performances I am happy.

"We know we need to work hard – and when we work, we work properly. It is about getting the balance right on and off the pitch. The gaffer is good at that: he has a joke when it is the right time and when we need to work hard, we work hard."

Virgil faces fight to Kop for a start

HEROES: Klavan and Van Dijk celebrate their Burnley goal

KLAVAN FIRES OUT WARNING TO £75M SIGNING VAN DIJK

LIVERPOOL defender Ragnar Klavan has warned Virgil Van Dijk that he won't just walk into the team.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Kop boss Jurgen Klopp has shelled out £75million to Southampton for the Dutchman after chasing him since the summer.

But Klavan says he and the club's other defenders welcome the extra competition for places at Anfield.

The 32-year-old scored a vital winner against Burnley on New Year's Day as he linked up with fellow centre-back Dejan Lovren. And despite all the stick the Kop's rearguard gets, the Estonian is prepared to fight for his place.

Klavan said: "He is a good addition to our team. It is like it is for everyone — there is competition and competition is good for all places."

And the 2016 signing from Wolfsburg is delighted to have hit the target against the Clarets.

He added: "It was good. We kept on fighting and got three points. That's part of the game. Sometimes it goes in, sometimes it doesn't.

"Those were three really important points but I'm not really one who wants to shine in the light.

"It was a good moment for me and for the team to get the three points, which is what we came here for, and that's it for me."

Van Dijk is not likely to make his debut in the powderkeg of a Merseyside derby against Everton on Friday night.

Klavan is looking forward to another big night.

The Reds dominated the league meeting between the sides but had to settle for a draw after Lovren gave away a silly penalty.

Klavan said: "It is always a special game.

"It was a little bit unlucky with everything which happened around the game but we just keep on going.

"When we are at our best there is a great chance we will succeed.

"You need to win your average games, you need to win with your attitude on your not 100 per cent best days.

"Character-wise we were at 100 per cent, performance-wise I've seen us already better football playing — but who cares?"

There has been a change behind the scenes with Kop coach Pep Linders taking over as boss of Nijmegen in Holland.

Klopp said: "I am gutted to be losing such a valuable member of our coaching team and such a brilliant person from our group.

"But that is tempered by the fact I am very excited for him to have this opportunity and as much as we would have loved for him to remain with us, we cannot stand in his way for what is a fantastic opportunity."

ERRORS: Steve Mounie

Mounie eclipsed by silly mistakes

HUDDERSFIELD striker Steve Mounie admits the Terriers were taught a lesson by Leicester.

The Foxes pounced on mistakes by the visitors as they cruised to a 3-0 win at the King Power.

All the goals came in the second half when Riyad Mahrez showed why he's being chased by some big names in Europe.

He got the opener before Islam Slimani and Mark Albrighton made it a comfortable afternoon for Claude Puel's men.

Despite that poor result, it was a good first half of the season for the Terriers.

They sit six points above the relegation zone even after winning just two of their past 11 outings.

Mounie admits that schoolboy errors after the break made the difference between the two sides.

He said: "It's a great team in front of us who played well, when we made a little mistake we paid for it.

"I'm very disappointed with the result but we keep going.

"We needed a goal to change the game.

Fresh

"Unfortunately we didn't score and when you don't the other team takes more confidence.

"Some mistakes lost us this game.

"We are prepared for this game because there was some rotation in the team.

"We had fresh legs, and everyone was prepared for this game.

"It was tough, we did well in the first half and had some chances to score — but unfortunately, we didn't."

Manager David Wagner believes there isn't a lot between his team and Leicester — and maybe their extra Premier League nous got them over the line in the end.

The German said: "The first half was even, we looked good, aggressive and kept them away from our goal.

"Even we know, after 22 games in the Premier League, the small margins decide the game.

"Unfortunately we weren't able to use the margins in our favour.

"It was a clear result but for 60 minutes it wasn't a clear game."

HARD TIMES: Mark Hughes

Stoke get all spiky about sad Sparky

STOKE are considering sacking manager Mark Hughes thanks to a poor run over Christmas.

After the Potters were potted 5-0 by Chelsea, they fell to a more damaging defeat against fellow strugglers Newcastle.

That was in front of their own fans — and plenty of them were calling for Sparky's head after the final whistle.

Hughes put himself under extra pressure by leaving his best players out at Stamford Bridge, saying the Toon clash was more important. That backfired during a drab 1-0 win for Rafa Benitez's men.

Now the Stoke board are considering all their options — and that includes sacking their boss.

The Potters sit just two points above the relegation zone and have won just two of their past 12 matches.

Seven of those have been defeats and Hughes has already had the dreaded vote of confidence from the board.

BACKING BOSS: Adam

Defeat

The former Wales gaffer has been in charge at the Bet365 Stadium since Tony Pulis left in 2013.

Defeat against lowly Coventry City in the FA Cup on Saturday would surely be the final straw.

But it seems that Hughes still has the dressing room behind him.

Charlie Adam was noticeably angry with fans holding up "Hughes Out" banners after the Toon game. He hopes the board give the gaffer more time.

The Scot said: "I'm disappointed to see banners against the manager, who has done a wonderful job here.

"Fans have an opinion and we respect that. Times are tough, let's not hide from it, and we're under pressure.

"That's us as a group, manager, staff and players. We have to take the flak. We thoroughly deserve it at the moment and it's only us who can change it."

And keeper Jack Butland agrees. He tweeted: "At times like these it's easy to point the finger but we need to stick together, that's what the club and the city is about!

"So let's get on with it and just keep pushing and make sure we do all we can to get ourselves back up the table!"

PREMIER LEAGUE PREVIEW:

NARKY ARSE FACES FA RAP

ARSENE Wenger has been charged by the FA after kicking off in the referee's room at the Hawthorns.

By PAUL THOMAS

The Frenchman was fuming with Mike Dean for giving West Brom a last-minute penalty against Arsenal.

Calum Chambers was judged to have handled the ball but he was very close to the incident and it looked a harsh one.

Jay Rodriguez stroked the ball past Petr Cech to deny the Gunners two valuable points. Wenger was already likely to face an inquiry after calling it an "imaginary penalty" on the telly.

He also implied that officials have got it in for Arsenal and keep giving them poor decisions.

Wenger added: "I think the referee has not even seen it. I am angry because we have seen the same things again."

He had already had cross words with Dean on the pitch but it appears to have carried on afterwards.

An FA statement said: "It is alleged his language and/or behaviour in the match officials' changing room after the game was abusive and/or improper and/or questioned the integrity of the match referee."

Wenger has until Friday to respond to the charge.

Patchy

In the meantime, there's the little matter of a crunch London derby with Chelsea at the Emirates.

It is tight at the top where five teams are fighting for the three Champions League positions behind Manchester City.

Arsenal look the most vulnerable of the quintet after patchy results over Christmas and New Year. There is a bit more spice in the mix with the Gunners said to be interested in Chelsea central defender David Luiz.

The 30-year-old has been left out in the cold by Blues boss Antonio Conte for a month now and there seems little chance of the Brazilian winning a first-team place back.

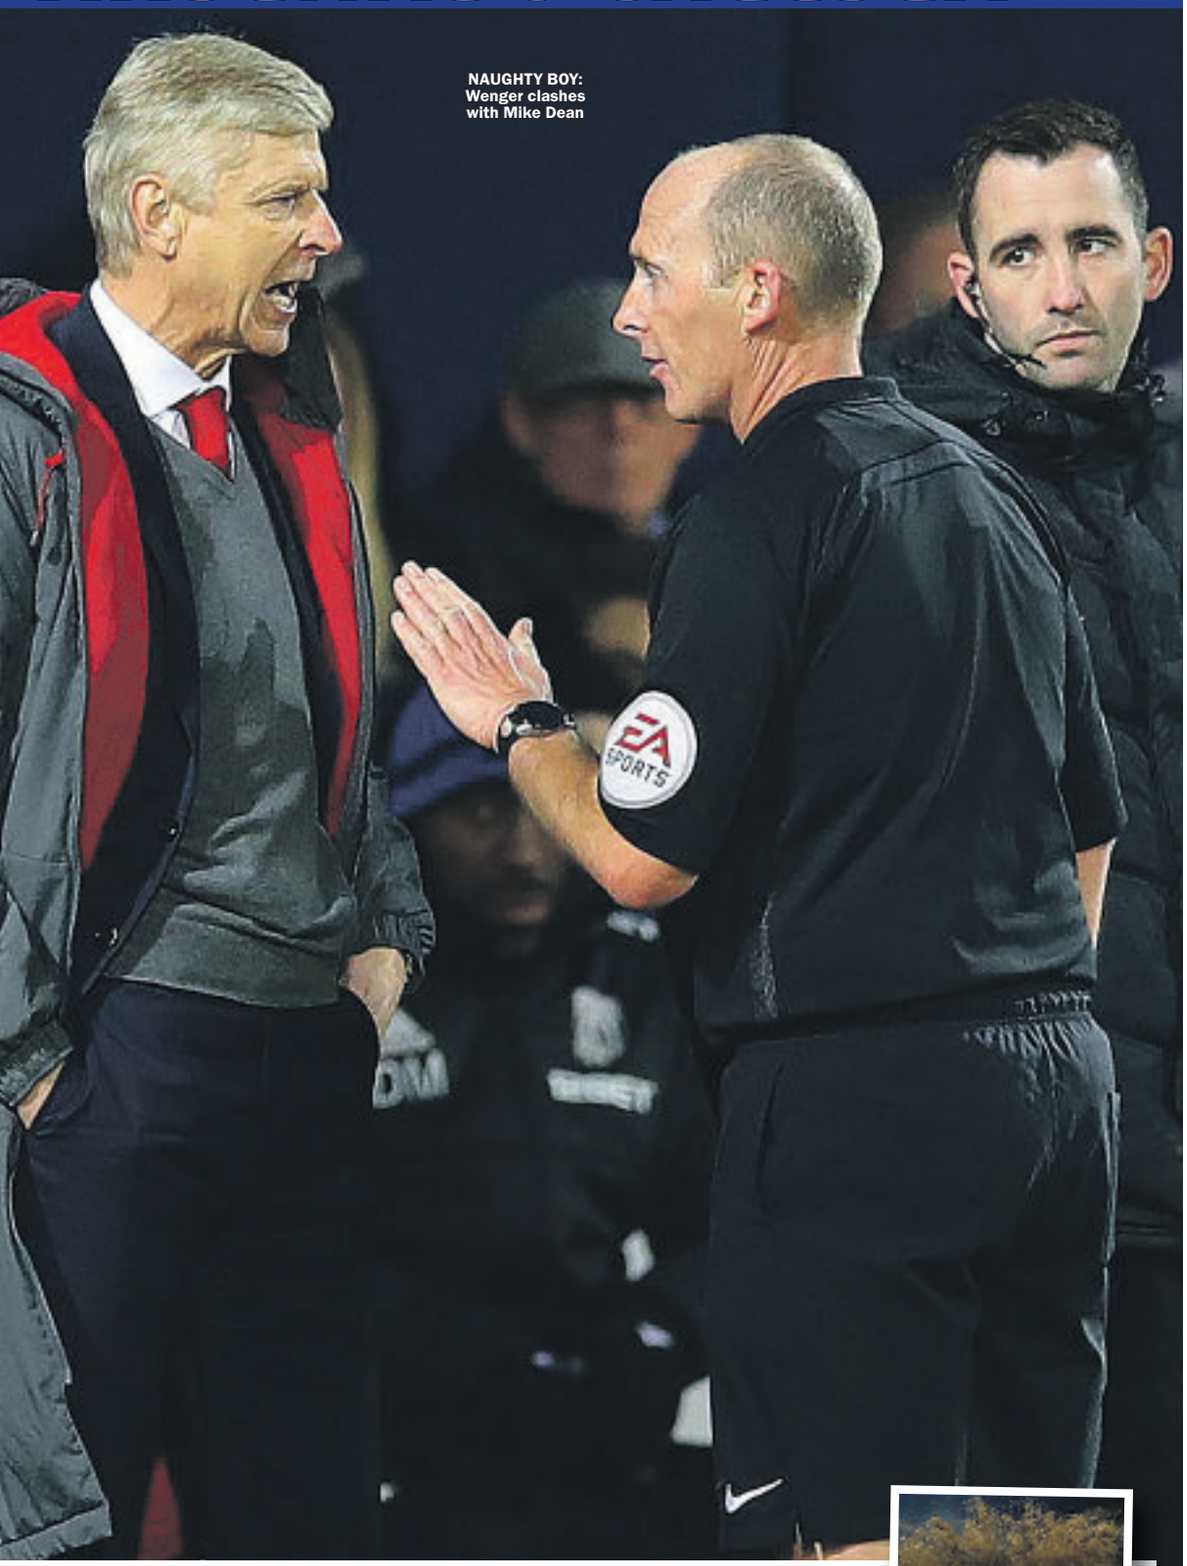

In World Cup year, he doesn't want to be sat on the bench and would jump at a move across the capital.

But Wenger has poured cold water on the reports.

He said: "I do not want to speak about any special name but these reports are wrong.

"We are open in any position for the exceptional player who can give us a plus, therefore of course it depends a little bit on the injuries as well.

Lost

"On the other hand, I must say it depends on extending the contracts of the players who are at the end of their contracts in June. We will have to take the consequences of these decisions and respond to it."

Conte says Luiz will only be allowed to leave if a replacement is signed — and he's not actively looking for one.

He said: "Our squad is not big. For this reason I think it's impossible to send on loan one player or to sell one player, if we don't take another player."

Wenger could do with Luiz tonight as key defender Laurent Koscielny is out. And he isn't the only one.

The Frenchman said: "At the moment our injury list is quite long, because we lost Kolasinac in the West Brom game and Koscielny.

"We had already Monreal, Giroud, Ramsey, Ozil out. Who will be available against Chelsea? The two who have a little chance are Ozil, who might have a test before the game — but he hasn't been out at all since Crystal Palace, so I don't know.

"With Koscielny, the medical staff were pessimistic about him.

"It is the achilles again, it has flared up. Yesterday the signs were not too encouraging. He is 30 per cent available, 70 per cent not.

"Nacho is still out, he should be a couple of weeks. Ramsey looks as though he is the same.

"He could target Chelsea in the League Cup."

NO MOVE: David Luiz

CASH CALL: Mourinho

Jose ready to splash cash in January sales

JOSE Mourinho is refusing to rule out a big-money buy this month.

The Manchester United boss believes his squad is crippled with injuries — and the board may have to get the chequebook out again.

The Portugeezer has a revolving door on the treatment room with the likes of Romelu Lukaku, Zlatan Ibrahimovic, Eric Bailly and Antonio Valencia on the sidelines.

He also has Ashley Young starting a four-match ban for violent conduct to make matters worse.

Before Christmas, Mourinho said there would be no incomings this month — but it sounds like he's changed his mind.

The United boss said: "We will compete always, we competed and we didn't have I think nine players.

"Nine players were not here. I always say that I like my guys very, very much.

"We have a fantastic relationship, we give our best, we try to do well always and when we don't we stick together and fight.

Emergency

"If somebody comes, welcome, if nobody is coming we are going to fight with the players we have.

"I had not one more player to select, even Chris Smalling was on the bench but he could only play in an emergency situation."

Mourinho has had one boost as it looks as though Lukaku will be back at the weekend.

It looked bad when he was stretchered off against Southampton but the head injury isn't a bad one.

Mourinho said: "It was precaution by the doctor to protect the situation but Romelu was in the dressing room, never lost memory."

FIT AGAIN: Lukaku

United didn't need their missing men when clocking up a comfortable 2-0 win over Everton.

Jesse Lingard kept up his excellent scoring form with his 10th goal of the season and his seventh in nine games.

The England star has improved this season and, at 25, can no longer be regarded as one for the future.

And he is looking to keep banging in the goals wherever he plays on the pitch.

Lingard said: "I have still got a target in mind and I'm working towards that.

"I just want to assist and score goals to help the team — it's good for me and that's my aim.

"The number is secret!

"But I'll keep working hard to help the team.

"It's always good for us to score as attacking players and to help the team get the three points."
